

Southeastern Fair Welcomes Children Of Schools Today

Stage Set To Receive 60,000 Fulton County Students at Lakewood on Third Day.

CROWD OF 40,000 JAMS PARK SUNDAY

Amusement Program Beginning at 2 O'Clock Includes Horse Racing and Many Daredevil Stunts.

CHILDREN MAY GET TICKETS AT FAIR

School children who failed to get special school day tickets through the schools last week may get them at the gates of the fair grounds on application today. It was announced Sunday by Arthur L. Brooke, president of the Fair association. Tickets will be supplied on a simple statement that they are students.

With more than 50,000 white school children in Atlanta and the surrounding counties waiting eagerly for the 8 o'clock gun to signal the opening of the third day of the Southeastern fair, every detail of the amusement as well as the educational program will be set and ready for the onrush of the "children's day" hosts. Installation of the 20 new rides and setting up of the tents and stage for the 20 new shows of the Zeidman and Polle Carnival company, the midway amusement attraction, was delayed six hours Sunday by the size of the crowd which swarmed into the park to see the triple-balloon ascension, the airplane stunt show and hear the first concert by "Smiling Joe" Basile's Madison Square Garden band.

Arriving at 2 o'clock with 32 railway carsloads of fun for the week's fair crowds, the carnival company was stopped at the gates by a jam of humanity that crowded Lakewood park and had filled the space reserved for the carnival shows and tents with parked automobiles and jams of people.

Waiting on the railroad siding for six hours, the work crews finally received the word "go" at 8 o'clock, when the crowd had thinned down sufficiently to make access to the grounds and traffic for heavy motor trucks and caterpillars possible along the paved driveway of Lakewood park. Work of construction and installation continued through the night and President Arthur L. Brooke of the fair association, issued a statement Sunday assuring the school children of Atlanta and north Georgia that the midway would be open and in full tilt on scheduled time, promptly at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

The crowd Sunday when, as has been customary for 11 years, the outer gates and grandstand were both opened free to the public, was the largest Sunday crowd in the history of the fair association. Checkers stationed at the two automobile gates and at the street car gates from noon until 10 o'clock reported a count of 40,000 persons and 6,000 automobiles that passed into the park during those hours. The count on the first Sunday last year had been 32,000.

Antoine Murat, French entry in the balloon races to be held at 4 o'clock every afternoon beginning today, and Stanley Marvin, the British entry, made a double balloon ascension and parachute drop Sunday, the second practice ascension preparatory to the balloon races which begin Monday afternoon. Marvin, Murat and William O'Connor, the Irish Free State aviator, had made a triple ascension Saturday. Walter Jewell, the American entry, is to make his first ascension today.

DEFENSE LAWYER IN CHOIR MYSTERY IS FACING ARREST

Grand Jury To Get Evidence Joining Attorney With Felix Di Martini, Private Sleuth.

HIDING EVIDENCE LAID TO TWO MEN

Martini Is Released in $10,000 Bond and Announces That He Will Fight Extradition.

BY JACK WALLACE. (By Leased Wire to The Constitution.) Somerville, N. J., October 3.—The shadow of possible indictment in connection with the Hall-Mills murder fell today over one of the lawyers engaged in the defense of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her three kinsmen, who are charged with actual commission of the crime.

Evidence joining this lawyer with Felix di Martini, private detective as an accessory after the fact will be placed before the Somerset county grand jury on Thursday by Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor if present plans prevail.

The theory upon which the prosecution bases this contemplated move is that Di Martini and the attorney in question busied themselves four years ago, during the original inquiry into the murder, in hushing the mouths of witnesses and otherwise obstructing justice, thus aiding and abetting the escape of guilty persons.

No Quarter Given. Simpson made plain Saturday that he is in no mood to show quarter to any number of the defense. His display of bitter feeling came during the argument over the defense motion for permission to inspect and photograph the calling card found at the feet of the murdered Rev. Edward W. Hall.

This card, according to the prosecution, contains the finger prints of the Willie Stevens, Mrs. Hall's brother, and one of the four defendants.

Justice Parker had ruled that the court had no power to compel Simpson to submit the card to the defense.

"The state," Simpson spoke up, "might be generous in a matter of this sort under ordinary circumstances, but the defense four years ago hired lawyers and private detectives to intimidate witnesses and cover up evidence."

SLEUTH IN "CHOIR" CASE GIVES BOND. New York, October 3.—(AP)—Felix Di Martini, private detective, charged with being an "accessory after the fact" in the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills at New Brunswick, N. J., four years ago, was released in $10,000 bail today for hearing in Brooklyn Friday.

He announced that he would fight extradition.

Di Martini is the fifth person to be arrested in the case. Chief counsel for the four others had refused to produce him. He was arrested last night at his home in Brooklyn on a warrant signed by Justice Cleary, of Somerville, N. J., and an affidavit by Inspector John Underwood, of the Jersey City police.

Underwood charges Di Martini with intimidation and attempted bribery of witnesses after the discovery of the bodies, September 16, 1922.

2 CANDIDATES DIVIDE FULTON PRIMARY COST

Claude Mason, Executive Chairman, Announces Hardman and Holder Will Meet Expenses.

DECATUR TO HEAR HOLDER TONIGHT

Railway Conductors Indorse Hardman—Candidates Busy as Campaign Closes.

With the democratic primary run-off for the gubernatorial nomination only two days off and the forces of opposing candidates busy in various parts of the state and with John N. Holder and Dr. L. G. Hardman, the candidates, both scheduled to make several speeches today and Tuesday, Claude C. Mason, chairman of the Fulton county democratic executive committee, announced Sunday night that obstacles which for a while threatened to prevent holding the run-off vote in this county had been removed by offers of the rival candidates to share the expenses of the primary.

Mr. Holder will speak today at Gainesville at 2 o'clock and tonight at the courthouse in Decatur at 8 o'clock. According to announcement from Holder headquarters in Atlanta the Decatur speech is the nearest to Atlanta that Mr. Holder will speak before the primary.

Dr. Hardman is scheduled to make several speeches today and Tuesday, winding up his campaign Tuesday night.

The following editorial from the Labor Review of Georgia, published at Augusta, was given out at Hardman headquarters Sunday night, together with a copy of resolutions indorsing Dr. Hardman's candidacy adopted in a recent session of the Georgia division, No. 457, of the Order of Railway Conductors.

The Labor Review in its issue of October 2, says: "In spite of the eleven hour campaign and lies, Dr. Hardman's race for governor has progressed with increasing speed. With the exposure of each fresh misrepresentation new friends have gathered under the Hardman banner."

"John Holder, who in the first race made no appeal to labor vote, in fact scorned same, has in his second race come out with his hands fairly dripping with mud. He has, at the direction of his political master, tried every conceivable artifice to secure the labor vote. But his record is a written word to the working man and his unfriendly attitude will not be forgotten by the sons of toil, it matters not how much he appeals with personal venom. Holder's campaign in fact is a thoroughly saturated with appeals to prejudice, but the better-informed working man of today will see the hypocrisy of his efforts."

"(Signed) Max Wilk, Secretary." The Georgia division, Order Railway Conductors in regular session Sunday, indorsed the nomination of Dr. L. G. Hardman. Their statement, addressed to Dr. Hardman, follows:

"By regular action of Georgia division No. 457, Order Railway Conductors, October 3, 1926."

300 Women Seeking Office, States League

WISCONSIN LEADS WITH 43 CANDIDATES

BY EARL J. JOHNSON. (Copyright, 1926, by United News.) Chicago, October 3.—Women will play an important part in the off-year elections this fall. A survey just completed by the United News reveals that an unprecedented number of women candidates for state and national offices have survived the summer primaries and are giving their male opponents a good race in the final stretch.

The survey also indicates that the middle west has been quicker to encourage women to enter politics as active candidates than other sections of the country. In Wisconsin, for example, 43 women were nominated in the primary elections and more than half of them have a good chance to be elected in November.

Although the United News reports do not bear it out, the National League of Women Voters estimates that 300 women are actively engaged in seeking political offices for themselves in the autumn campaigns.

GRAFT CONDITIONS IN INDIANA CAUSE 'MARTYRS' MARCH' AT GREAT TEMPLE

Legislative Session Is Planned to Investigate Regime of Stevenson, Former Klan Head.

Indianapolis, October 3.—(AP)—Thomas H. Adams, Vincennes, Ind., publisher and head of a group of members of the Indiana Republican Editorial association, who are probing alleged political corruption in Indiana during the regime of D. C. Stephenson, former Ku Klux Klan dragon, will go to Chicago Monday to open up national aspects of the investigation.

Adams said in a telephone conversation from Vincennes to the Associated Press tonight that he would meet in Chicago Tuesday "responsible persons whose names I cannot make public" to discuss the possibilities of obtaining an investigation by the United States senate into Indiana conditions during 1924 and 1925.

Meanwhile six members of the Indiana state senate, to whom Adams in Indianapolis yesterday showed documentary evidence purporting to incriminate public officials in alleged corrupt transactions with Stephenson, will get in touch with the entire membership of the senate, he said, with a view to determining how many members could be mustered for a voluntary session to take legal action in the direction of enlarging the probe committee and giving it official powers.

Senators at Session. The senators who attended Saturday's meeting were Thomas A. Daily, Indianapolis; C. Le Roy Leonard, Warsaw, and J. Monroe Fitch, Muncie, republicans; Walter S. Chambers, New Castle; Joseph M. Cravens, Madison, and George Saunders, Bluffton, democrats.

No formal request has yet been transmitted by the unofficial investigators to Governor Ed Jackson for the calling of a special session of the Indiana state senate, but Adams, since the progress of the investigation first was made public last week, had indicated that the chief executive would soon be asked to convene such a session.

Several lawyers interested in the case, one of them Frank C. Daily, former United States district attorney

He Sleeps in Graveyards WALKS 6,000 MILES AFTER DOCTORS SAID HE'D DIE To Strengthen Backbone

If your backbone was weak would you sleep in graveyards, count Friday's and thirteen as lucky days and numbers and regard red-headed people as your best friends? Neither would your Aunt Minnie.

Those are just a few of the things that Clarence H. "Casey" Jones, 19-year-old lad from Burlington, Wash., who is walking around the country for his health, does on his three-year journey. "Casey" visited Atlanta Sunday en route from his home to San Antonio, Texas, where he will visit his sister.

Sickly when a child and "doomed to die" by attending doctors, he has begun a three-year walk to build a fine and strong network of muscles around his backbone and hold it in place. It had a curious habit of "popping out of place and many times has become unconscious in inconvenient places and waked up in a hospital.

He says that sleeping in a graveyard helps him in many ways, because he likes solitude and he is in the open air. Bad dreams he does not count, or rates them with ghosts. His like for red-headed people dates back for

SERIES EVENED AS ALEXANDER BAFFLES YANKS

Veteran Hurler, Who Was Fired by Chicago Cubs, Strikes Out Ten American Sluggers.

TWO HOME RUNS HELP CARDINALS

With First and Third Base Occupied Young Billy Southworth Sends Ball Into Bleachers.

BY FRANK GETTY. Yankee Stadium, New York, October 3.—The wisdom of age and the drive of youth combined to win a thrilling world series victory for the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday, 6 to 2. The particular drive which beat the New York Yankees, evened the series and sent a record crowd of 63,000 into hysterics, was a smashing home run by young Billy Southworth which brought in three runs and broke up the ball game in the seventh inning.

A greater and more lasting thrill came, however, from the masterly pitching of Grover Cleveland Alexander, the 40-year-old veteran who is completing his nineteenth year in the big leagues.

"Alex the Great," they used to call him in his prime, and Alex never was greater than against the Yankees this warm, Indian summer day. The old master struck out 10 New York players, made the mighty Babe Ruth look like a bush-leaguer and would have had a shutout but for a series of unfortunate incidents early in the game.

After the third inning not a single Yankee reached first base.

Cards Pounced on Shocker. While Alexander was turning back the hapless Yanks, the Cardinals, by their leader, Rogers Hornsby, playing like a man inspired and showing the way, came with a rush that would not be denied. They fell upon Urban Shocker in the third inning and again in the seventh, slashing out base hits until Miller Huggins called a halt, derided the discomfited Shocker and tried his luck with a couple of other pitchers before the game ended.

Young Thevenow, who had been afflicted with stage fright during the opening game, came through with a home run and two singles, while Southworth, whose timely hit into the right field stand won the game, almost made three hits.

The Cardinals went up to bat and took good, healthy swings at Shocker's slants. They no longer appeared muscle-bound as they did against Herbie Pennock Saturday. They looked like a different and vastly better ball club.

As a result of this change of front, the Cardinals are en route for St. Louis on even terms with the Yankees. Both have won a game, and it will take three more victories for one or the other before the world's championship of 1926 is won.

In reserve strength the Cards now

REV. BILLY SUNDAY TO VISIT ATLANTA

Famous Evangelist Will Speak at Baptist Tabernacle in February, It Was Announced Sunday.

Rev. William A. Sunday, world famous evangelist, will speak at the Baptist Tabernacle here in February, it was announced Sunday evening by Dr. Will H. Houghton, pastor, at the services. The inimitable "Billy," announced that he would be able to visit Atlanta at that time in a letter to his friend, Charles W. Outlaw.

Atlantans will recall the magnificent revival series held here by Mr. Sunday nine years ago in a specially built tabernacle, during the seven weeks period securing the pledges of 16,000 people to lead Christian lives.

Dr. Houghton in announcing the tabernacle program for next spring, on Sunday stated that a great Bible conference would be held following the "Billy Sunday" visit. At this conference Dr. George W. Truett, of Dallas, Texas; Dr. J. C. Massey, of Belmont temple, Boston, and other famous speakers will appear on the program. Added to the speakers will be two outstanding musical attractions "The Lotus Male Quartet," of Boston, and the "Aida Brass Quartet," of New York.

Labor Federation Sets 5-Day Week As Definite Goal

OFFICIALS MEET TO AVERT SCHOOL SHUTDOWN TODAY

Council Finance Committee and School Board Members Confer With Mayor This Morning.

CITY FACES CLOSING SCHOOLS TUESDAY

Council Expected To Save Situation When It Meets This Afternoon, Members Declare.

Members of the finance committee of city council, members of the board of education with Mayor Walter A. Sims and other officials, will meet at 9 o'clock this morning to devise means to raise $500,000 and thus prevent city-wide closing of schools Tuesday.

Although no satisfactory plan has been evolved yet for borrowing the money it is freely predicted by city officials that "something will be done to prevent the crisis." In case no satisfactory plan is advanced schools will be closed Tuesday. This ultimatum now faces the city.

A holiday has been declared in white schools today to allow children to attend the Southeastern fair, but negro schools will remain open today.

Most Promising Proposal. The board of education is expected to ask city council to borrow $500,000 and pledge its repayment out of funds for 1927. In case council agrees to do this Mayor Sims will ask aiding Atlanta capitalists and public-spirited citizens to give their personal indorsement of notes for the money. This step is now looked on as the most favorable one proposed since the threatened crisis arose more than two weeks ago.

Several members of council have expressed the opinion that some measure would be put through council Monday to save closing the schools. Among these were Councilmen Harry York, C. D. Knight and W. E. Saun-

Queen Marie Asked To Play Role in Film

Hollywood Chamber President Offers Her $25,000 for Single Day.

Hollywood, Calif., October 3.—(AP)—Queen Marie of Rumania has been offered a record salary for a single day in motion pictures, Frank Gallows, president of the Hollywood chamber of commerce, revealed Sunday.

For posing before the clicking cameras the queen would receive $25,000 with the understanding that the money will be used for the relief of suffering children in Rumania.

A check for that sum has been placed in the hands of Gallows, who in behalf of Edwin Carewe, noted producer, has telegraphed the invitation and details to the Rumanian legation in Washington.

Carewe is preparing to film "Resurrection," the immortal drama of love by Leo Tolstoy.

"The story 'Resurrection' is one that would be fitting in every respect to her majesty, Queen Marie," Carewe said. "Her role, strange to say, would be that of a queen in the film story."

Decision Reached at Final Meeting of Executive Council, Preliminary to Convention.

SUCCESS CERTAIN, DECLARES GREEN

Physical Demands of Modern Industry Said to Favor Shorter Work Week for Employees.

Detroit, October 3.—(AP)—The five-day week for all workers came to the fore as a definite goal of the American Federation of Labor program today in the final meeting of the executive council of the federation, preliminary to the forty-sixth annual convention which opens tomorrow morning.

President William Green and his cabinet, composed of international officers of affiliated unions, agreed upon the five-day, forty-hour week as the cardinal point in the advancement program of organized labor and determined to recommend the policy to all affiliated organizations, as a basis of negotiation for contract renewals, and employers.

Called "Inevitable."

"The 40-hour week is inevitable in American labor," Mr. Green said in a public statement after the meeting. "For the simple reason that it is economically sound and profitable. It is profitable for the worker, and for the employer, and has been tremendously successful in the numerous crafts in which it is already partially effective. High pressure production and the physical demands of modern industry are such that only with the shorter day can we attain notable progress in mechanical production. In the printing crafts, garment trades and building trades, where the five-day week is effective in some sections of the country, the results have increased production, as much as 40 per cent, on certain operations with an actual decrease in the unit cost."

Scientific study of charts in mechanical operations point to the shorter week as the most promising method of maintaining the prosperity of American industry, for it will reduce the labor turnover and increase production as well as the quality of work, create more leisure for the enjoyment of life and aid to the general high standard of living for the American worker, the best paid worker in the world."

Under the constitution of the federation the executive council may not go further in the advancement of such a policy than a mere blanket indorsement of the aims, for the actual working out of the program must rest always with the autonomous international organizations in the negotiations of contracts.

Russia Not Recognized. The council reaffirmed its decision that they would have no contracts with soviet Russia and agreed to recommend to the convention non-participation in a proposed commission to investigate conditions in Russia in behalf of American labor.

The fraternal delegates from the Mexican Federation of Labor were received by representatives of the Pan-American Federation of Labor at the headquarters of the American federation today and will take their seats tomorrow at the opening plenary session.

Delegates representing a majority of the convention voted to accept an initial agreement today to accept with out debate the recommendations of the executive council in the matter of relations with the Mexican federation during the coming year.

The annual report of the executive council will be read at the afternoon session tomorrow.

Turning Swords Into Plows Duplicated by Henry Ford With Old, Worn Out Vessels

Wartime Merchant Fleets
Are Being Utilized in Making New Autos and Tractors.

Detroit, October 3.—(AP)—A 1929 version of the business of turning swords into plowshares was disclosed today by the Henry Ford interests here in explaining how the nucleus of the wartime merchant marine fleet rapidly is being fed into the Ford industry. Wartime ships are literally being transformed into automobiles, tractors and implements for use in the organization's various enterprises.

A crew of 500 men, working at especially designed dismantling docks erected by this gigantic industrial concern, which taboos waste, every other day wreck one of the 100 steel ships which the Ford interests purchased of the 800 originally built as the United States shipping board's merchant fleet. Thirty-five already have been dismantled, and as the process is completed, another crew of 300 men move the parts to allotted places, where they meet a variety of needs.

Steel and metals are used to make automobile parts. Heavy beams and spars go to the lumber mills to become wheels and automobile bodies. Scrap wood and cork are ground for packing purposes. Piping faucets and plumbing fixtures are stored away for some future need. Stacks and air pipes are installed in various plants. Wooden deck materials are made into crates and boxes. Even nails are melted into pigs.

Generate Power.
The ships engines are sent to drive saw mills and generate power in the plants while one of them was sent to a Ford factory in France. Search lights are sent to light Ford aviation fields, and ship ice plants find a use in experimental laboratories.

A place for every part and parcel of these one-time ocean-going vessels is found some place in the Ford organization.

The wrecking plant at Fordson is a mile-long wharf constructed along the bank of a river which runs through the company's grounds. After the tedious process of towing the ships from some seaport, where they rested before they were designed for junk, is accomplished, the boat is towed into position No. 1, where portable cranes operating from three sets of railroad tracks take off stacks, booms, spars and upper deck equipment. The boat then is advanced to position No. 2, where further deck material is taken off, and so progresses until it reaches position No. 12, where nothing but a gaping hull remains.

Acetylene torches burn out the bulk into huge slabs of metal, which is loaded for the foundry or open hearth steel for melting and the ship is no more. The process is continuous and as fast as one ship passes position No. 1 another takes its place.

Gain Profitably.
Whether the Ford organization will realize a financial gain on the project is still problematical, but representatives of the company in an interview with The Associated Press pointed out that the venture was undertaken more in the nature of an experiment than with the idea of realizing financial gain.

The greatest gain, however, which will be derived, they said, will be the development of a shipbuilding and dismantling organization which will be able to care for needs of Ford freight shipping service, which it was indicated may be extended.

The men engaged in the work are receiving a working knowledge of shipbuilding and dismantling which probably could be equalled in no other manner, and when their present work is completed they will be put to work maintaining the Ford fleets now operating on the Great Lakes and Atlantic ocean. It was not indicated whether the company plans eventually to build its own ships.

These ships, which range in tonnage from 3,200 to 5,500 tons each, were bought by the company for scrap at $4.57 a ton. The cost of towing them to the dismantling wharf increased the cost to $8 a ton, while the estimated dismantling cost of $5 a ton makes a cost of $13 a ton. The average market price for scrap is $11 a ton.

The company's problem in order to at least break even on the investment is to realize the difference between the cost of the merchant vessels and the price for which scrap iron could be purchased, by putting to practical use every article taken from the dismantled ships.

It is an axiom of the Ford industry, officials said, that nothing ever wears out. The manner in which the government merchant marine, thought to be worthless for purposes other than scrapping, is being put to practical use, is pointed to as bearing out Henry Ford's belief in that axiom.

Pensioner of War Of 1812 Passes At Americas Home

Americus, Ga., October 3.—(Special.)—Mrs. Carolyn Clapton, 88, and one of six pensioners of the War of 1812, died at her home near Americus at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Mrs. Clapton, who had lived in Sumter county for many years, was one of the best known residents of this section. She had been ill only a week, the result of a fall.

Mrs. Clapton, in whose home James E. Little, an aged Confederate veteran, had an apartment, was awakened during the night of September 27 by Little struggling in his room. Securing a quilt, which she planned to throw over Little, whom she supposed was cold, Mrs. Clapton started to his room. She was upon a back porch when she tripped upon the quilt and fell to the ground, a distance of several feet. Her hip was fractured, but Mrs. Clapton was not rendered unconscious by the fall. During many hours she lay upon the ground and became chilled throughout, suffering intense pain.

Little was found dead in bed next morning. She was found by her son, Walter Clapton, prominent Sumter county farmer, and given medical attention and since the accident her condition has been critical and her death today was not unexpected.

Funeral services will be held Monday morning from the residence on Lane road. Rev. Seaborn Winn, pastor of Leslie Baptist church, will officiate and interment will be in Oak Grove cemetery at Americus.

ROOSEVELT GOES TO CINCINNATI FOR TREATMENT

Chicago, October 3.—(AP)—A decidedly uncomfortable infection on the back of his neck which sent Colonel Theodore Roosevelt hurrying here from Cincinnati last night for treatment, was responsible for his failure to keep a speaking engagement at Evansville, Ind., last night, he said today. When Colonel Roosevelt failed to arrive in Evansville telegrams were sent scurrying over the wires in an attempt to locate him.

Colonel Roosevelt at his hotel said he hurried here from Cincinnati after speaking in Charleston, W. Va., and will leave tonight for Minnesota to continue his speaking engagements.

Young Ministers Are Given Warning Against Overeating

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Freeport, Ill., October 3.—Ministers were warned against over-eating and spiking their work in an address today by Bishop W. O. Shepard, of Portland, Ore., who is presiding here at the Rock River conference.
Bishop Shepard spoke to the class of young men entering the conference. Ten were received on trial. They must serve for two years before becoming full members.
Six were received as full members. All signed pledges to wholly abstain from the use of tobacco and promised to give their entire time to the work of the ministry.
"If a man is without conscience the ministry is the easiest place to shirk work," Bishop Shepard said. "The minister is not watched like a laboring man, nor as men in other professions. Therefore, he must watch himself. The ministry is not a white collar job. It means hard work. Should a man who is a fisher of men work less hours than a catcher of fish? No minister need expect an eight-hour day if he is to accomplish the task to which he is called. Committees from churches come to me asking for pastors. They seldom demand a big preacher, although preaching is an important part of the work of the ministry, but the question most often asked is, will the minister care for the people and will he give himself entirely to the church? They ask first of all a manly man.
"I know ministers who eat too much and some who have been rendered inefficient, or have died prematurely because of this self-indulgence. A man must keep his body fit."
Concerning doctrinal question Shepard advised the young men against having "locked up minds." But also declared they must regard some things as settled.
"You don't have to read everything and you don't have to know everything," he said. "But there are some things that are unchangeable, like love for one's mother, wife and children. We have settled some things. The most important, is that Jesus Christ is the Redeemer of the world. This truth will probably be preached until the end of the world."

TINNEY IMPROVES AFTER TREATMENT BY PHYSICIANS

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Chicago, October 3.—A slight improvement in the condition of Frank Tinney, famous comedian, was noted today by Dr. Leo Dretzka, who yesterday ordered the actor to a hospital for treatment of two fractured ribs and pleurisy. Tinney is, however, still delirious. His temperature has dropped a degree to 100 and his pulse is still 120. Pneumonia, which was feared, has not set in.
Bert Keweenaw, black-face comedian, arrived today to replace Tinney in Earl Carroll's "Vanities," which illness forced Tinney to leave Friday.

SUIT RIDICULED, HE FIRES SHOT INTO HIS CRITIC

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Chicago, October 3.—"I certainly do love you," observed William Weston to Mrs. Mattie Bell, a widow. "My love is unselfish, but I know that my suit is hopeless."
"That's the most hopeless thing about you—your suit," replied Mrs. Bell.
"What's wrong with my suit?" demanded Weston.
"Ask the clerk who charged you $12 for it with extra pants," advised Mrs. Bell. "It makes you look like a circus."
Weston then shot Mrs. Bell and disappeared. Love will stand just so much!

Tallulah School Benefit Dance Date Is Postponed

Announcement was made Saturday by Mrs. Greene Dodd Warren that the ball which the Washington seminary sororities will sponsor on behalf of the Pessie Fenton Otley scholarship endowment fund for Tallulah Falls school has been called off for the present. The date originally chosen for the event conflicted with a brilliant dance arranged by the Merry-makers' club for Garber hall and in deference to the college boys in charge of that dance, Mrs. Warren, who is chairman for the ball for the seminary girls, graciously consented to withdraw.
Within a few days a definite date will be fixed for the Washington seminary sororities' affair and a full announcement will follow. In appreciation of the courtesy shown them by the seminary girls the Merry-makers' club promise to cooperate enthusiastically in plans which the O. R. N. P. P. and Phi P. will launch later for their benefit dance.

Meanwhile from the headquarters of the central control committee in charge of creating the Pessie Fenton Otley endowment fund, Mrs. T. T. Stevens, chairman, makes the announcement that the fund has already passed the $20,000 mark and is now on its last lap with less than $10,000 to be raised before the amount of $30,000, set as the goal, is reached. Contributions are coming in from all sections of the state and leaders in the undertaking are requesting that friends of Tallulah Falls school and all who are interested in the education of Georgia's mountain children send their donations to the headquarters office, which Mrs. Stevens is maintaining at M. Rich & Bros. Co. The Greater Tallulah, dedicated in June of 1925, replaced the two buildings of the earlier school enterprise with one of the most complete and up-to-date plants to be found anywhere.

Begun in 1909 with one small school building and five acres of land the Greater Tallulah plant now contains 50 acres and eight buildings

ALLEGED BURGLARS AND "FENCE" HELD

Three alleged burglars, negroes, said to be implicated in the recent robbery of the Fulton Grocery company at 126 Decatur street were held to the grand jury under bonds of $3,000 each Saturday afternoon in recorder's court. C. D. Nichols, 60, a merchant, of 101 East Ellis street, was held to the grand jury under a bond of $1,000 under a charge of receiving stolen goods after the negroes are said to have testified against him. The round-up of the alleged burglars followed investigation by City Detectives Oscar D. Evans and Pat Campbell, who made the arrests. Nichols denied buying the stolen goods, it was said.

"My Life Story"

Written by Rudolph Valentino

30TH INSTALLMENT

(It Leased Wide to The Constitution.) I told Natacha I wanted to see Rome again in a methodical rather than rambling way. After all, I am of the opinion that the atmosphere is always in my blood. In that way, I can learn little more. What I wanted to do in this case was "go" the city from the topographical point of view. I wanted to have a new, revised, up-to-date map of it in my mind.

And so, this afternoon, we took the prescribed carriage and drove—

Up and down about such streets as the Via Balbina, the Via Sistina, the Via Quirinale, stopping there in the square for the view. Via Nazionale and up to the left as far as the Via Agostino Depressi and so taking in the Via Garibaldi, the Via Condotti and numerous others.

Arriving again at the starting point, the Piazza di Spagna, after one of the most interesting drives in the world.

Felt at Home. I felt, somehow, strangely familiar with all these streets and piazzas and views. The people I saw on them were, after all, my own people. I had no sense of the returned stranger glancing over familiar territory, but felt rather as if I were home again, with no absence in between.

Tonight we had dinner with the Baron Fassini and went to the Circa Monza, where the automobile races were. From there we took a drive to the Piazza San Pietro in front of the Vatican. It is a gorgeous sight. You see this tremendous pile, made more impressive by the marbling of the moonlight. On each side is a quadruple arcade, and if you stand, as we did, in one particular spot, you can see, in one glance, all of these columns diverging.

And then we saw the Coliseum by moonlight.

Dream of Lovers. I suppose that there is nowhere in the world where there are students and where there are lovers, too, that the thought—the dream of seeing the Coliseum by moonlight—has not played its great or little part. It is one of the spots of the earth of which lovers dream the most. It is storied and thick with legend and with colors, and it is not disappointing.

Nor is it mythical, that it should be seen by moonlight. It should be seen by moonlight. It should be seen by moonlight. It should be seen by moonlight.

Door of Life and Death. Where the imperial lodge or house used to be, and the two opposite doors, the Porta Viviana and the Porta Mortuaria, the first where the hapless victims entered alive, and the second where they were borne out—dead.

He showed us all the different places where the Christians were kept, the "bestiaries," the gladiators, dressing rooms; the part where the water came from, because, for their mimic naval battles, they used to flood the arena with water, and the great drain where the water for these bath was drained off.

Of course the Coliseum is in ruins, but by the gleeful light of the moon and by the exercise of not very strained imagination, I could imagine it as it had been in those bygone days of unbelievable cruelties, wanton spilling of red blood, spectacles that young girls work their youth away over whirling machines and dusty garments; cruelties that chain men and women to unmerciful toil year in and year out, until the hour glass empties and turns the other way.

The one was a devastating cruelty, a sudden, splurging bath of blood and tearing; then the roar of the applause, the plaudits of the crowd, licking the blood-flecked foam from their bitten lips.

Now we shut our eyes, put our hands over our ears and refuse to know that cruelties exist. We no longer appear suffering.

We simply ignore it. Well, who shall say which is the greater wrong? To get back the Coliseum of its gone splendor, which all the white moonlight cannot divest of the red blood that stained it so gloriously and so ingloriously, the facades are all in marbles, bronzes and gilded bronze.

Then on top and all around was a huge tent that Roman sailors used to spread to protect the spectators from the intrusion of the sun. Still you can see the traces of where this tent was hung.

And still there are the charred spots where the vestals kept the fires burning.

Don't miss tomorrow's paper. Rudolph Valentino continues his wonderful story of the Coliseum. He takes us with him through the secret passage Nero took from the Palatine Hill. The cells of death! A gripping, lurid, gory strain of blood. Tremendously captivating. Don't miss tomorrow's paper.

RUSSIANS SEIZE WRANGLER ISLAND

Tokio, October 4.—(AP)—A dispatch to the newspaper Nichi Nichi from Hakodate, Japan, says the Russian Volunteer Fleet association's ship Stavropol has arrived from Wrangel Island, where it removed the American and British flags and raised the red banner.

Fifty Russian emigrants were placed on the island after a thorough exploration by airplane.

It was found that vegetation was scarce, but there were a number of fur-bearing animals, including bear and fox.

The area of the association was reported as 2,925 square miles.

AMERICAN VESSEL IS COMMANDEERED BY CHINESE ARMY

Pekin, October 4.—(AP)—A message from Hankow says American naval authorities have requested the suspension of American sailings between Ichang and Chungking on the Yangtze river, in view of the situation at Ichang and the likelihood of resistance against the landing of Yang Sen's troops.

This message refers to the "commanding" by General Yang Sen's forces of the American steamer Jiang, which according to a report from Hankow yesterday, was passed into service by the Yang Sen troops for transportation of soldiers to a point near Ichang.

MARMOSSET ESCAPES

Vest Pocket Size Monkey Loose in Atlanta.

Has anybody seen a vest pocket-sized monkey? A diminutive, jumpy, nervous marmoset monkey, just from South America, has escaped from Petland, on Peachtree street, and has not been seen since.

The marmoset when fully grown is about the size of a gray squirrel. Although there are many in this country they are rare in this section and the child can breed in a queer kind of mouse to the kitchen Sunday morning, it might have been a marmoset. But if he has not made a dainty morsel for a cat or a bull pup Charles J. Yancey, manager of the shop, offers a liberal reward for him.

NEGRO SHOT DEAD IN HOLD-UP TRY

Mark Clemonds, a negro about 30 years of age, was shot and killed Sunday night at 11:10 o'clock in front of 42 Central avenue when he attempted to hold up and rob S. C. Wallace, supernumerary policeman detailed during the fair.

Wallace, who wore civilian clothing with only a badge pinned on his coat to indicate that he was an officer, was walking his beat past Kinney's alley when he was approached by the negro who ordered him to hold up his hands and give him his money. The officer drew his gun and told the negro to stand back. Wallace said the negro ignored his command and was approaching with an open knife in his hand when he shot.

Call Officer Chewing and Sheriff Polk, of Butts county, investigated. Sheriff Polk stated that he moved the negro's hand and an open knife fell out of it on the sidewalk where he had fallen. The body was removed to Cox Brothers' undertaking establishment.

Denial of S. S. Smith's Malicious Attack on H. C. McCutcheon

At a political rally in the Second Ward held at the Georgia Avenue School on Thursday night, September 30th, a letter was read that was signed by S. S. Smith, which contained a malicious attack on the union labor record of Howard C. McCutcheon, candidate for Council from the Second Ward.

We, the loyal union employees of the Ben Franklin Press, desire to go on record as condemning the false and slanderous statements in said letter, which are only the complaints and mouthings of a discharged employee.

Mr. McCutcheon is Vice-President and General Manager of the Ben Franklin Press, and the true condition of affairs is that there is not a better or more loyal, exclusively union labor printing plant in the country.

He pays wages to all employees above the union scale. He has a plant which is ideal from a union standpoint.

This statement is issued as a matter of common honesty and justice to a man who always has been a friend of organized labor.

Wife Sues For Her Freedom When Husband Breaks Rules

Evanson, Ill., October 3.—Because her husband, Theodore Wyszaker, a wealthy real estate dealer, could not obey ten rules she had drawn up for happy married life, Mrs. Rose Wyszaker has sued for separate maintenance.

For a whole week he obeyed her ten commandments religiously, then, Mrs. Wyszaker charged, he declared the agreement was only a scrap of paper, started going out with other women and broke nearly every one of the rules, which included:

1—I will go to church every Sunday.
2—I will file a schedule of my assets with my wife.
3—I will give her a weekly statement of my bank deposits.
4—I will attend a religious class selected by my wife.
5—I will attend strictly to my business.

6—I will ask my wife's advice on all business matters.
7—I will be with my wife every night except when business takes me away.
8—I am on probation until December 17, 1928, when I will render a full account of all my actions between now (August 12) and then.
9—I will not annoy or disturb my wife.
10—We will not live together as man and wife until I prove myself worthy.

Three Ways To Improve Motor Performance

Use Woco Pep, the King of Motor Fuel. Woco Pep—a motor benzol and gasoline mixture—will give you from 10% to 25% more mileage than gasoline.

Use Tiolene 100% Pure Pennsylvania Oil. The supremacy of Tiolene Super-Pennsylvania Motor Oil is recognized nationally by motor authorities. Motors function better when lubricated with it.

See the Woco Trouble Shooter today. The Woco Trouble Shooter will look over your car free of charge. See him any day this week at the Wofford Service Station, corner Ponders Avenue and Marietta St.

Take advantage of these three great aids to trouble-free motoring. First, see the Woco Trouble Shooter at the Wofford Service Station, corner of Ponders avenue and Marietta street. He'll be there from October 4th to 9th. He'll look over your car free of charge. If you're using too much gas, having trouble in getting over hills, or are disappointed in any way with the performance of your car he will correct the trouble or tell you how to correct it. No charge.

Next, fill the tank with Woco Pep, that wonderful mixture of benzol and gasoline that does what gasoline can't do, gives mileage that gasoline can't deliver and will permit you to drive happily along free of carbon trouble and motor knocks.

Then, put in Tiolene Oil and discover the big difference that proper lubrication can make in motor car performance. You'll find your car running smoother and operating more efficiently when the drag of wearing, tearing friction is cut to the minimum by this super-Pennsylvania motor oil.

Use these three big Wofford helps. They'll make you one of the happiest and most satisfied motorists in town.

FREE Klenzo-Lube Crank Case Service. During the week we'll also give to every customer at the above-named Wofford Station a FREE Klenzo-Lube Crank Case Service. And when we say FREE, we don't mean "almost free," either. There'll be no charge for the service and NO CHARGE for the special Crank Case Cleaner used in washing out the crank case. The only charge will be for the oil with which the crank case is refilled.

Owning A Home THIS is the natural ambition of every man with a family, but even so praiseworthy an investment as a home may sometimes lead to disaster unless properly safeguarded. Most homes are purchased on partial payments, running far into the future. These obligations will be met and the home secured to the family if—and there's the rub—if the wage earner lives to complete his plans. For details of this modern form of protection, drop a line to—

EDITED BY M. D. GLEASON

There is hardly a need or a want that cannot be filled in Atlanta's stores and factories.

Everbrite Radiant Heater Saves Heating Problems

One hundred and nine Marietta street is going to be an outstandingly busy store for the next four or five months, for that is the new location of the Everbrite Radiant Heater that was the talk of the town last fall and winter.

This Everbrite Radiant heater was sold in the Peachtree Arcade last winter and is that nice-looking heater that looks like an extra fine fireplace and although there was such a brief time for the Georgia representatives to show and demonstrate this splendid heater last winter a large number were sold here in Atlanta, Macon and elsewhere in the state.

Not having room enough last year in the Arcade a fine large store was secured at 109 Marietta street for a long time location and this store opens for business this morning.

To all those who are not familiar with some of the many advantages of these Everbrite Radiant heaters we will list here a brief description of the same.

Burns coal oil, the cheapest fuel known, generates its own gas, burns with an intense heat, all the heat you want—when you want it—and where you want it. Burns 10 to 15 hours per gallon, fuel tank holds 2-1/2 gallons, has no wicks—no smoke or soot—no fine or pipes, has no connections of any kind and is a complete portable hot-fire heater.

Eliminates Dirt.

Here is a heater that every housekeeper or those who must have stoves to keep them warm in cold offices needs, for with one of these Everbrite Radiant heaters in a room there is no dirt to carry in, no ashes to carry out and all dirt is eliminated and with but a slight movement of the hand you can have much or as little heat as you may get their heat.

This Everbrite Radiant heater is truly a wonderful invention—here you have a very attractively designed, easy fireplace that a child can operate with perfect safety—you light a match and immediately it begins to radiate a glowing, luminous, cheerful heat, the flames begin to burn steadily in their fire clay radiating red at the base and white at the top and no matter how cold the weather may be outside you always have comfortable rooms with whatever heat you want at your command.

Two of the great advantages these Everbrite Radiant heaters have over all other kinds of heaters is the low cost to operate one. These heaters will easily heat a large 20x20 room for less than 2 cents an hour and maintain an even, steady heat as long as desired.

Are Portable.

The other big advantage is that they are portable and can be taken from room to room. They are sturdy built, weighing 44 pounds and will give a quick hot fire just wherever you want it—put it in your cold breakfast or bath room in the morning, pick it up and put it in the living room during the day, move it back in the dining room this Everbrite Radiant heater can warm up your bedrooms, it's your heater to give you heat when and where you want it.

The family living in the country has, with one of these heaters, all the advantage of their city friends who have gas heaters. Short of heat is a common trouble for those who live in the country. For the children's rooms or the sick room this Everbrite Radiant heater can not be beat, as the heat can be regulated to suit the needs of the room and the temperature in the children's or sick room may be maintained as desired.

These Everbrite heaters will gladden the hearts of every mother or housewife who has trouble every winter with some extra cold room as well as boarding housekeepers, managers of large public institutions, schools, colleges, hospitals, hotels, garages, construction camps. The evangelist preacher who would announce that he has one or two Everbrite Radiant heaters in his gospel tent would be the same as telling the people that though the night is cold it is comfortably warm inside.

Guaranteed Perfect.

These Everbrite Radiant heaters are guaranteed to be perfect in every way and the president of the big company, Henry M. Washington, of Kansas City,

Dairy Supply Firm Invites And Welcomes Fair Visitors

The management of the Dairy Farm and Supply company, of 31-33 Garrett street, extends an invitation to every farmer and dairyman who comes to Atlanta to visit the South-eastern fair to make their store headquarters while in the city.

This firm has every known device and equipment used in the dairy business and they are lending every encouragement to the farmers of Georgia to extend their activities in the dairy line.

No visit to the big fair and Atlanta will be complete without the dairyman seeing their big stock of dairy supplies and learning the newest money savers for the dairyman.

Officials here are very enthusiastic about how the farmers are beginning to wake up to the fact that they live in the best state in the country, where cows can graze outdoors more days in a year than any northern or western state, and their upkeep is less.

At the present rate in a few years Georgia will not have to buy a pound of butter, a can of condensed milk or cream from northern or western brokers, wholesalers, creameries and producers, and everybody in Georgia should see the facts and reason if a northern farmer on a small farm must keep his cattle out of the pastures from four to five months of the year, during which time he must water and feed them and use additional labor to tend them, if he makes a success of his investment the Georgia farmer should do better.

Officials of this progressive firm are live civic and state leaders in their line and are as follows: A. I. Steinheimer, president; E. E. Steinheimer, vice president; and S. G. Steinheimer, secretary treasurer. These three brothers are doing their full share to help the farmer get into the dairy business, thereby helping himself, the community that he lives in and the state at large.

PREDICTS DEFEAT OF PACT ON DEBT

Alencon, France, October 3.—(United News).—Rejection by the French parliament of the American debt agreement as it now stands is the only course that body can follow, Adrien Darlan, chairman of the debt sub-committee of the chamber of deputies, said in a speech at a political banquet here.

If it is to be ratified, he declared, this must be done with reservations calling for fresh negotiations regarding the transfer and guarantee clauses.

Darlan suggested that the entire problem of debts be sent to an international tribunal such as the League of Nations, for settlement. He said that the league already had dealt with problems of similar importance, such as threats of war and readjustment of frontier disputes.

He expressed the hope that the United States would abandon its present policy regarding debts, which, he said, was purely that of an observer, and participate officially in efforts that are being made to solve this problem.

Evans County Farmers To Hold Mass Meeting; Court To Open Today

Clayton, Ga., October 3.—(Special.) Evans county superior court convenes here Monday for the regular October term with Judge Walter W. Shepard presiding.

The first part of the week will be taken up with civil business. There are several important cases to be tried. There are few cases on the criminal docket.

A mass meeting of the farmers of Evans county will be held at the noon recess on Monday. This meeting is for the purpose of discussing the problem which confront them and the best means of overcoming their difficulties. Owing to the failure of cotton crops in this section and the low price which they are getting for their products they feel that there is a necessity for taking some steps whereby their financial condition will be improved.

This term of court will be the last in this county in which Judge Shepard presides, as he retires from the bench in January. He has been judge of the Atlantic circuit, which is composed of counties of Evans, Liberty, Bryan, Long, McIntosh and Tattnall, for 16 years. His record as a jurist has been an enviable one. He made a reputation over the circuit for fairness and impartiality. Judge Shepard is a man of the highest type of character. It is said that the influence he has had, both on the bench and off, will be felt for many years.

TO AID PENSIONERS LIVE WITHIN MEANS

Steps to aid widows and orphans of Spanish-American war veterans to live within their pension money were instituted Sunday afternoon by the Fitzhugh Lee camp, U. S. W. V., at its regular meeting at the city auditorium. A ways and means committee was appointed to look into the matter.

It was pointed out that the government is now distributing approximately $500,000 yearly in Georgia under the new act of congress and that it is the duty of various camps to aid the widows and orphans to live within this income when possible.

The meeting of the camp was attended by a large membership. H. D. Shaddeau, acting commander, presided.

The Helen Gould auxiliary, U. S. W. V., held its regular meeting Sunday afternoon at the city auditorium. Eight new members were elected and will be installed at the next meeting. The auxiliary voted to donate $10 to the Florida relief fund.

Ed Peek, one of the best-known mill supply salesmen in this part of the country, and G. B. Motley, a new man with the firm, are doing a splendid business in and around Atlanta and are looking forward to even bigger things in the very near future.

H. D. Watson, vice president, is exceedingly well pleased with the big volume of business. The firm is exclusively doing business in Georgia for Armstrong steam traps, Cash standard reducing valves, Dayton steepladders, William Powell valves for water, steam, gas, oil and air; Quick Patch pipe cement; Slip-not leather belting, Quaker City rubber belting and packing, John Crane metallic packing, Barry steel split pulleys, unbreakable steel shaft hangers and the genuine Dick Balia belt.

This firm is noted for its prompt service and the salesrooms here are headquarters for men and machinery people who visit Atlanta.

President R. L. Barrett states that he wishes to extend a cordial invitation to all visitors to the big South-eastern fair now going on at Lake-wood, to make their headquarters in their large salesroom in downtown Atlanta.

Griffin, Ga., October 3.—(P)—A pleasant month with only a few showers is in store for Georgians during the month of October should the forecast of Professor Albert L. Snider, of this city, a clamping long-distance weather prognosticator, come to pass.

Here is what Professor Snider sees with his "weather eye" for the month of October:

"1. Fair and pleasant; 2. fair; 3. showers; 4. fair and cooler weather; 5. partly cloudy; 6. showers; 7. showers; 8. fair and cooler; 9. fair and warmer; 10. fair; 11. fair and warmer; 12. fair and continued warm; 13. showers; 14. fair and cooler; 15. fair and warmer; 16. fair and pleasant; 17. showers; 18. fair and cooler; 19. fair and warmer; 20. fair and cooler; 21. fair and pleasant; 22. partly cloudy; 23. showers; 24. fair and cooler; 25. fair and very cool; 26. fair and warmer; 27. fair and pleasant; 28. showers; 29. fair and cooler; 30. fair and warmer; 31. partly cloudy weather."

Weekly Business Review

West Peachtree Street Firm Represents National Concerns

"The screen business of today," says R. M. Callaway, who has represented some of the best makers of fly screens in Atlanta for nearly a quarter of a century, "has pushed up the seasons several months over what they were some years ago."

"When a house was built a few years ago fly screens were considered a matter of later detail, and sometimes years would go by before they were screened. Times are different now, and a new house is not considered complete without being properly screened."

The R. M. Callaway company, which is located at 705 West Peachtree, represents Bostick-Goodell company, of Knoxville, Ohio, and the W. J. Baker company, of Newport, Ky., both large manufacturers of national reputations.

The Bostick-Goodell company makes venetian blinds and wood screens, and the local firm does a big business all the year around in this territory for the Baker firm.

Radiator Inclosures.

R. M. Callaway & Co. represents the American Metal Products corporation, of St. Louis, makers of the celebrated Kauffman furnace and steam radiator shields and inclosures. These Kauffman radiator inclosures are the kind architects recommend, because they are covered up without retarding the heat radiation, and add an extra piece of furniture that will blend in harmoniously with the artistic furnishings in the finest of homes. There is a plain one that looks like an old-time kitchen safe and fits over the radiator, and there is the fine Italian type console that is elaborately made with fine scrolls and panels.

Fit Anywhere.

These metal inclosures can be ordered to fit high or low, floor, wall or ceiling radiators. Every one has solid top and bottom to protect the walls and throw out into the rooms all the heat through the perforations or grill-work in the front and one or both ends of these inclosures.

Due to the solid tops of these Kauffman radiator inclosures the walls above and around the radiators do not become soiled or discolored nor do the curtains or draperies nearby become soiled or soiled, and the heat is forced out in the center of the room where it will do the most good.

Dixie Rubber Products Co. Making Heavy Blow Patch

Less than two years ago there began at 275 Marietta street, an industry now known as the Dixie Rubber Products company. This firm began in a small way to make a stout blow-out patch or boot for automobile tires.

This blow-out patch was so rugged that it became very popular among the auto drivers, once used, and now a large crew of expert workmen are busy every day making them up to be shipped all over the country.

As the Dixie Rubber Products company blow-out patch is made of heavier material than any other brands on the market, it gives the car owner more confidence in the tire in which it is in. Scores of letters are received weekly from those who are using them expressing gratification that they were able to get thousands of extra miles out of their damaged tires that they thought were of no further use to them.

So popular has this blow-out boot become that 35 jobbers and more than 450 dealers in the southeast are carrying it in stock, and wise car owners everywhere are carrying them in case of emergency, for the break in a tire must be very bad indeed where these rugged boots will not carry on with the trip.

The officials of the Dixie Rubber Products company are wide-awake business men who are making a great success in their new industry. The president is E. S. Davis, a former popular Fitzgerald citizen, and the sales manager is D. E. Taylor, who has had much experience in the automobile line.

Mr. Davis says he is looking forward with keen anticipation to seeing many of the firm's customers in Atlanta in attendance at the Southeastern fair being held at Lakewood this week and he welcomes them to their salesrooms at 275 Marietta street, which is easy to locate and accessible from all parts of the city.

Heavy rains in British Guiana have supplied water for the working of many diamond mines that had been idle for some time.

BUSINESS IS SEEN AS SATISFACTORY

New York, October 3.—(AP)—Business enters upon the final quarter of the year with a satisfactory outlook for a large volume of trade and ample profits. Developments last week were mainly favorable, although they revealed that the autumn season has been trade and industry was accompanied by scattered and occasionally disturbing irregularities.

The chief danger sign on the horizon at the moment is the threatened upset of the commodity price equilibrium due to rather sharp declines in the prices of farm products. The average price of farm products in August, as mentioned by the department of labor's index, had fallen approximately 25 points below the level of August, 1927, compared with rather gradual declines in other groups. The average price of all commodities, for example, was 11 points lower than the level of last year, and the price of raw materials amounted to 15 points. The decline from July prices also was proportionately greater for agricultural products than for other commodities.

The resultant shrinkage in the purchasing power of the farm regions has been obvious. Within the past fortnight the price of cotton has fallen from a point about 9 cents a pound below the level of a year ago, to a point about 15 cents below the level of a year ago. The price of wheat has fallen from a point about 15 cents a bushel below the level of a year ago, to a point about 25 cents below the level of a year ago. The price of corn has fallen from a point about 15 cents a bushel below the level of a year ago, to a point about 25 cents below the level of a year ago.

Industrial prosperity, on the other hand, has suffered no serious setback. Production in the third quarter was fairly well stabilized at a level considerably above the average and promises to remain so until the end of the year. At the same time manufacturing output has continued to move steadily and smoothly through all distributive channels. The enormous volume of goods going into consumption has been attested by the large sales of department stores and mail order houses and the record-breaking traffic being moved by the railroads.

Credit conditions have given the greatest concern to the business world. Money rates last week reached the highest levels of the year and opinion was chiefly divided as to whether the peak of the demand had been reached or whether more serious stringency was in sight. The situation a year ago was precisely the same, but the firmness of the money market in October failed to retard business in the last quarter of the year.

Bank Loans Expanded.

A warning that bank loans were expanding more rapidly than they normally should upon the basis of the present volume of trade and that credit inflation might result, was sounded by one Wall street authority. Set against this view was the opinion of a leading banker that "so far as business is concerned the situation continues free from inflation, overbuying and other symptoms usually calling for corrective action."

No changes of importance marked operations in the two key industries of steel and automobile manufacturing. Both were maintained at a high level, although narrower margins of profit were reflected in the earnings of some of the companies. The combination of the European steel combine is not expected materially to affect activities of the industry in this country.

Holder Forces Rap Walker For Stopping Bulletin Funds On Charge of Misused Lists plot and scheme the election of Dr. Hardman.

"In their anxiety to help the candidacy of Dr. Hardman, the Walker-Bennett machine politicians in the statehouse ring have been too busy to permit of the governor even acknowledging the Fulton county grand jury's recommendation. The ringsters have been too much engaged in juggling appointments, transferring office-holders, inspiring card writers and spurring on their horde of office-holders to consider the banking situation."

"As an instance of how the Walker-Bennett political machine operates attention is invited to a statement made Saturday by Judge William F. Townsend, of Cartersville, from which it appears that Governor Walker's brother-in-law is now politically active in Barlow county in behalf of Dr. Hardman, and at the same time drawing pay from the state as a deputy commissioner of revenue of John N. Vandiver."

Townsend Statement.

"Judge Townsend's statement follows: 'Mr. W. H. Field is a brother-in-law of Governor Walker, and formerly lived in Cartersville. Mr. Field is at present employed as a deputy commissioner in the office of John N. Vandiver, state revenue commissioner. Mr. Vandiver is an appointee of Governor Walker.'

"I am chairman of the local county board of registrars. On last Friday Mr. Field came to me and made application to be restored to the voters' list. Mr. Field exhibited a letter from the state revenue department, temporarily transferring him to this territory from his former home."

"Mr. Field told me that he would be here 'until after the election.' He said further that his expenses were paid by the state, and while here he expected to do some work for the state and some in politics. It is well known that Mr. Field is working for Dr. Hardman."

"I mention these facts as another evidence of the Walker machine's activity for Dr. Hardman, at the expense of the state."

PIGEON-POULTRY SHOW OPENS AT FAIR TODAY

The largest pigeon and poultry show ever held in Atlanta will open at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning as a feature of the Southeastern fair, to continue in full cackle through Saturday.

Judge E. C. Branch, of Lee's Summit, Va., reached Atlanta Sunday to begin judging the poultry show Monday morning.

Judge Branch is a noted authority on poultry, the author of a number of volumes on chicken breeding, and is also proprietor of one of the largest poultry ranches in Virginia.

Single-comb Rhode Island reds will be the first class to come up for inspection Monday, with single-comb dark brown leghorns, barred rocks and buff orpingtons during the afternoon. Judging should be concluded by Tuesday night, it was stated Sunday by J. P. Frasch, manager of the poultry and pigeon department.

The entire ground floor of the agricultural building has been filled with poultry and pigeon entries from the southeast, birds having been sent from points as far distant as New Jersey and Mississippi to compete for the liberal premiums.

W. F. "Billy" Mills, widely noted southern pigeon fancier, will judge the pigeon show, beginning Monday morning. Because of the number of entries, it may be the end of the week before winners in all classes are announced.

Skaggs Urges Uniform Laws For Automobile Operators

President Atlanta Safety Council Issues Statement in Connection With Pending Conference.

The salient reasons why Georgia and every other state in the union should enact and enforce the uniform motor vehicle operators' and chauffeurs' act, recommended by the Hoover conference, are presented by the Atlanta Safety council, in a statement issued Sunday by J. E. Skaggs, president, in connection with Governor Walker's call for the Georgia conference on street and highway safety to be held in Atlanta, October 7 and 8.

1. The large number of automobile accidents that take such a huge toll of lives, limbs and property, should be reduced, following passage of the model law urged by the second national conference on street and highway safety.

2. There should be a marked decrease in the number of drunken drivers as motorists who persist in mixing gas and booze will have their licenses revoked, which is not possible now in Georgia.

Will Slow Speeders.

3. Speeders will slow up when going through residential districts, where children play in the streets, if they know their licenses are in danger of being canceled.

4. Habitually careless operators of motor vehicles, who are constantly involved in crashes, will be more cautious and courteous once they face the prospect of losing their licenses.

5. Permits to drive will not be granted to applicants who are physically unfit, by reason of being subject to fits, fainting spells, defective vision or hearing, etc.

Will Bar Insane.

6. Licenses will not be granted to persons who are mentally deficient.

Today it is possible for the insane to operate cars.

7. Persons who cannot read or speak English will have to learn the meaning of the rules of the road, read traffic signs, understand traffic signals, etc.

8. Boys and girls under 16 years of age will not be able to get a license. Minors will not be allowed to operate taxicabs, jitneys, school buses, etc.

9. Tourists who desire to spend more than a month in some other state will not have to take out an additional license, as there are liberal non-resident privileges in the proposed law.

10. The act should result in motorists being afraid to speed away after being in an accident, because they will realize that, if apprehended, they will lose their licenses and face possibility of both a fine and a jail sentence.

Buenos Aires is to have a new six-story department store.

'War Guilt' Talk Of Stresemann Arouses France

Paris, October 3.—(AP)—French governmental circles are stirred over the speech of the German foreign minister, Dr. Stresemann, at Cologne yesterday, in which he referred to the recent "war guilt" speeches of Premier Poincare, characterizing them as jarring notes in the midst of the theory conversations and saying that Germany was ready to submit to any impartial tribunal charged with investigating the origins of the world war.

A semi-official note issued today states that M. Poincare's St. Germain and Bar-Le-Duc speeches last Sunday and Monday, respectively, were an expression of the opinion of the entire French government.

"In the speech delivered at Cologne," the note says, "Dr. Stresemann once more raised the question of responsibility for the war. Although M. Poincare was careful in his recent declarations at St. Germain and Bar-Le-Duc to make distinction between the imperial government and the German people, the German minister of foreign affairs saw fit to contract the language of the French premier."

In French governmental circles it was said today that the declaration made by M. Poincare before the general council at the Meuse department was deliberated on by cabinet council and expressed both in spirit and letter the constant thought of the French government.

In its comment The Temps says: "Dr. Stresemann forgets that it was he, himself, by his most imprudent language to the German colony at Geneva, who reopened the debate upon the responsibility of Germany for the war."

HE DIDN'T THINK OF RINGING BELL, HE TELLS POLICE

By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune

Chicago, October 3.—When Leif Gulbury made his uncertain way to his home early yesterday morning he discovered that the door was locked. He recalled that he had left his key on the wrong side of the door as he went out.

Mr. Gulbury lives on the third floor, but he remembered that a living room window was unlocked and that there was a four inch ledge just underneath it, running from the front to the rear of the house. So Mr. Gulbury clambered up the back stairs, lifted himself over the ice box and lowered himself acrobatically to the ledge. He missed his footing and plunged down three stories, landing in a muddy flower bed.

Willing hands picked him out of the soil in which he had embedded himself. He shook off his rescuers and went to the home of his sister, where the police found him. He was only slightly damaged.

Effort To Buy Klan Support And Tardy Repudiation Of Brown Laid To Holder

Statement From Hard- man Headquarters Says Holder Clung To 'Brown Machine' Until Crash.

John N. Holder, candidate for the democratic nomination for governor in the runoff primary Wednesday against Dr. L. G. Hardman, is charged in two statements issued Sunday from Dr. Hardman's headquarters in Atlanta, with having sought support of the Ku Klux Klan in the fifth district by the promise through a "paid henchman" of "a little money for our boys for working at the polls on election days" and with having never denied his connection with the "Brown machine" as long as there was hope it could tow him to victory.

The statement regarding the alleged offer to a fifth district klanman, issued by Alex S. Chamblee, follows:

"Mr. Holder has resorted to every unfair means known to dirty politics to advance his candidacy is reflected in a letter written by a paid henchman to a klanman in the fifth district, promising money for their support. The following letter which was directed to a prominent gentleman of Douglasville, a member of the klan, was written by Samuel Greene, an eclectic practitioner with offices in the Peters building, Atlanta. We have the original letter on file:

"Atlanta, Ga., October 1, 1926.—Dear Sir: Was up to see you yesterday, but you were out to the farm. We, as you know, (the klan) are taking a klan stand in the Holder race for governor, still since Mr. Holder has recently been made a klanman, and coupled with the fact that he will be our friend if elected, while Dr. Hardman will be very unfriendly to us. We believe that it behooves every klanman to quietly go to work to help elect Holder.

"Your county went for Dr. Hardman, but it can be easily swung to Holder if you will go to work. I understand that you are supporting Holder and I would suggest that you and Wynne and a few of the boys meet with Colonel McLarty and I believe that we can get some of our boys a little money for working at the polls on election day. I would suggest that you and Wynne start the grape vine to work. Drop me a line. Yours, Dr. Green."

Statement by Chapman.

The following statement charging that Mr. Holder has never denied his alleged connection with the "Brown machine" until recently was issued Sunday night by Gordon S. Chapman from the Hardman headquarters.

"Mr. Holder seems to resent the fact that Dr. Hardman has accumulated a little money to launch his children in life, and to provide for his own old age. It would seem that he knows so little that he does not know that this is the aim of every prudent man who has not been provided for by inheritance.

"But it is not the first time in the history of Georgia politics that demagogues have tried to make it appear that a candidate's worldly goods were a bar to public office. The same argument was used against Hoke Smith when he ran for governor for the first time; but it did not seem to have any weight with the voters. If Mr. Holder was the student of history that the governor of a great state ought to be, he would not be so claiming from every stump that Dr. Hardman is a millionaire. The only inference to be drawn from such statements is that in his noble altruism he has neglected to provide for himself, and for that reason he should be elected in order that he might draw the money, and a majority of the ability, are the prerequisites of success. Ask yourself, or ask your neighbor, if this is not true.

Has Needed Ability.

"You will notice that Dr. Hardman never boasted of his wealth. He has never said the things that have been put in his mouth by his enemies. He has been reasonably successful in the management of his affairs. And that is the important fact that he is trying to drive home. And it is an important fact when he is trying to occupy the governor's chair. It requires a great deal of executive ability to discharge the duties of that office, and I can't imagine any better training for it than sitting at the helm of a large private enterprise and guiding it successfully through all the vicissitudes of business. The same principles and the same rules of conduct apply in both cases; and I respectfully submit that Dr. Hardman has, by reason of "natural ability and long experience, the necessary qualifications to make one of the best governors Georgia ever had."

"Ever since Mr. Holder broke his 'masterly silence' in his Jefferson speech, and began his mad scramble for the governor's chair, he has been loudly proclaiming that Dr. Hardman is the pro-bono candidate, and that he stands for the 'pay-as-you-go' system of building the state's highways. There is no objection to the 'pay-as-you-go' system. In fact, it meets with general approval. But there is very serious objection to the chairman of this board using his office as a ladder to the governor's chair.

"No one except Mr. Holder can understand how he arrives at the conclusion that he is the only candidate opposed to a bond issue, unless he is self-hypnotized. Dr. Hardman has always opposed bonds, while Mr. Holder is a recent convert, who, with characteristic zeal, is trying to monopolize the popular side of the question; but he is such an opportunist that he is likely to change his mind any time it would serve his interest.

Majority Anti-Holder.

"In his impotent wrath he overlooks the fact that the majority of the people are opposed to him, personally, and would be opposed to him regardless of anything he might claim to stand for. On the other hand, the same majorities are for Dr. Hardman, the man, because they know that he is eminently fitted to fill the office he seeks. They know from his private life and public service that he is a man of integrity and ability, and that he has just as much right to be elected as any other man. They know that it is his ambition to become governor of Georgia in order to restore to the state the honor and glory that it has lost as Empire State of the South. They know he has no higher ambition for himself, and no friend to hoist into the United States senate. Mr. Holder never denied his connection with the Brown machine as long as there was hope that it could tow him to victory; but after the opposition to the Brown machine narrowed down to Eugene Talbot, and it became apparent to every one that it was headed for the ditch, he denied his master. When the omnipotent Brown, who held the legislature in the hollow of his hand, went down in a disaster so abysmal that no cry has come forth from the wreckage, it was time for his brothers in guilt to flee the scene.

"But there is a greater work for the people to do. The Holder machine still functions, with the people's cash to oil its bearings. That, too, will be destroyed on October 8, and the people be freed from its domination forever."

republics, and to give valuable advice on the conduct of their export trade with these countries.

The commercial attaché is well known to many Atlantans, having visited this city several years ago. He was elected to honorary membership in the Atlanta Foreign Trade club and will be feted by the organization on the occasion of his present visit at a banquet to be given tonight at the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Ackerman was for several years prior to his appointment in the government service with the Southern Railway system, engaged in trade promotion both in the United States and in Argentina and is thoroughly familiar with the resources and industrial development of the southeast.

Brin Is Expert.

Mr. Brin was for several years attached to the Washington staff of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce and is regarded as an expert both on Mexican trade and the foreign sale of automobiles, automotive specialties, electrical equipment and industrial equipment. He has also made a special study of foreign credits.

In addition to numerous conferences throughout the day, both officials will visit the Southeastern fair, where the commercial attaché will deliver an address over the radio on Chile. They will also visit a number of the larger industrial establishments.

An invitation is extended by the Atlanta office of the bureau for interested executives to meet the visiting officials. Appointments may be arranged by communicating with the office at Walnut 2357, Mr. Mitchell stated.

300 WOMEN SEEK POLITICAL OFFICE

for major state offices alone. Five want seats in the lower house of the legislature; three are candidates for trusteeships of the State university and one wants to be clerk of the appellate court.

Ferguson Loss Hurts.

The defeat of Governor Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson for re-nomination seems to have put a damper on the once promising woman movement in Texas, where there are only three women candidates for state positions.

Oklahoma has five but they all are seeking jobs usually regarded as pecuniarily adapted to women. There are three women candidates for commissioner of charities and corrections and two for the clerkship of the supreme court.

In Wyoming Governor Nellie Taylor Ross probably will be re-elected. She is the only outstanding woman candidate in that region.

Contracting with these figures from the reports from New England say that M. J. Rogers, seeking reelection to congress from Massachusetts, is practically the only woman politician New England has.

Another congresswoman, Mrs. Florence P. Keim, probably will be re-elected by her constituents in California. California also has a woman state legislator, Mrs. Cora Woodbridge "She", virtually assured of reelection in November.

The bulk of Nebraska's women candidates—seven of them—were eliminated in the primary. These included Sarah T. Knier, a state senator who was defeated for re-nomination. Only two Nebraska women remain, Mrs. M. Gillespie and Miss Millie Meredith, running for the state legislature.

Speaks on Mexico.

At the evening service Dr. Houghton spoke to a packed house on the subject, "Shall America Interfere in Mexico?"

In discussing this question Dr. Houghton said that the constitution adopted by Mexico in 1857 had not been put in effect since 1917 and that it had not really been put into effect until July 31, 1926. In this constitution it stated that primary children should be educated through public education instead of religious education as before. The real issue, though, is that, by this constitution the Catholic church is not allowed to own property and the church now owns one-third of the property in Mexico. Also that no foreign minister or priest would be allowed to serve in Mexico and it is now estimated that there are 25,000 priests from Italy and Spain.

Dr. Houghton said that he wanted it understood that he was not preaching against the Catholic church or any other church as a religion, but only when that church tried to mix with state would he interfere or raise objection. According to the minister, we do not understand the Catholic church for this church in America and where it is in power are two different things. A French Catholic leader said: "When we are not in power we demand liberty in the name of your principles and where we are in power we refuse you liberty in the name of our own." An illustration of this is in America where they are not in power and where they demand their rights in the name of religious freedom.

Demand for Light.

The demand in Mexico today is for light. The Catholic church has kept them in the darkness of ignorance. This is shown by the fact that statistics show only one per cent can write, while 90 per cent of the population are Catholics and they have been in control 400 years. They are looking for light to free them from the darkness of political control. The Catholic church is not satisfied to teach and preach their religion, but want to control in politics.

America should not interfere in Mexico, said the minister. "They have no more right to interfere there on behalf of the Catholics than they have to interfere in Rome on behalf of the Protestants who are being persecuted by Mussolini."

14-YEAR-OLD LAD HELD FOR MURDER

Punta Gorda, Fla., October 3.—(P) Johnnie Van Hooten, 14, is being held for the circuit court under bond of $20,000 on a charge of killing Frank Densten, 11, at McCall, a small turpentine settlement on the Myakka river, near here.

The younger boy's death was first reported as an accident, but after a coroner's jury heard statements from other children the Van Hooten boy was arrested and formally charged at a preliminary hearing here before County Judge Roberts.

The shooting was said to be the aftermath of a childish quarrel of only several hours standing which was brought to a climax when the Densten lad struck his opponent in the face with a ripe guava.

Young Densten was playing in the yard of a schoolmate, it is said, when the Van Hooten boy approached with a double-barreled shotgun and sighted it at Densten. The smaller boy attempted to run, but Van Hooten fired, it is alleged, and the full charge struck the younger lad in the chest.

Van Hooten surrendered to his school principal, in whose yard the shooting occurred, and wanted to know if "I killed Frank and will I be killed for doing it."

The trial will be held at the next term of circuit court here which opens October 19.

FOUR PERSONS HURT AT THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., October 3.—(P)—Four persons narrowly escaped death here today when an automobile driven by Mrs. Lucille Disque, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., careened over an embankment in rounding a curve.

The injured were Mrs. Disque, Mrs. Louise Loney and her young son, Gene, and a negro nurse, of West Palm Beach, Fla.

They were treated at a hospital here for cuts and abrasions. They were en route from Fort Lauderdale to Gadsden, Ala., to visit friends.

FLORIDA REALIZES AID IS NECESSARY

Washington, October 3.—(P)—Florida officials no longer believe that their state can take care of its hurricane sufferers without outside aid, in the opinion of James L. Fieser, vice chairman of the American Red Cross, who returned to headquarters today after spending two weeks in the storm-swept area.

He attributed to local pride the early dissemination of statements that southern Florida was not so bad off as people had been led to believe, and thought a different view was now being taken by those in charge of the state's affairs.

People Confused.

Declaring the differences stirred up by conflicting statements as to Florida's needs had confused the people over the country as to Red Cross aid required, for the first time in the organization's history, Mr. Fieser said the "eyes of the Red Cross" were now on the eighteen thousand families left homeless by the storm. Emergency requirements have been met, he asserted, and the society is now turning to the work of rehabilitation.

The Red Cross, he declared, is now ready to make funds available for the stricken area "so far as they can." If more money was available, however, he said, "we could do a better job."

He thought it would be useless to try to renew interest in the drive for funds. The $5,000,000 set as the goal, $3,025,000 of which has been subscribed, he added, would have "gone over" if the brakes had not been put on.

No Friction Observed.

Mr. Fieser said he had observed no friction in relief work in Florida, but, on the contrary, everyone "had their sleeves rolled up and were cooperating in a fine spirit."

After telephone conversation today between the vice chairman and Mayor Bright of Richmond, Va., the mayor decided to release for payment the $10,000 check raised by the city of Richmond for the Florida victims, Mr. Fieser announced. Delivery of the check had been held up pending an investigation said by the mayor to be necessary to learn who was right, the boosters or the relief workers.

The vice chairman said that he probably would return to Florida the latter part of the month.

alderman from the fifth ward, if no means are provided to raise the necessary money, he has announced.

Commends Couch Plan.

Commendation of this plan was given by Mrs. J. E. Andrews, president of the Civic Council of Women, in a statement Sunday night. She declared that the board of education could not be to blame for inefficiency and that they, as a whole, are looking to the good of Atlanta children.

In speaking of the plan proposed by Mr. Couch, Mrs. Andrews said in part:

"In my opinion that is the only sane thing to do," she said, "and if it accomplishes no other good but to let the people see the lack of efficiency in our present city government it will have served its purpose. And this statement is not meant as a reflection upon any person or group of persons. As I view the situation we, the people of Atlanta, are the stupidest, most egotistical set of dumbbells that one could find anywhere, at least I hope no worse exists anywhere. We are nothing but a jazz band. We are without harmony and without purpose—without worthy purpose. About all we hope to do is to advertise the city of Atlanta to the world, and believe me, we are doing it. And I do not believe that we can command the respect of anybody when such a situation can arise which we are facing now—the closing of the public schools in the faces of sixty or more thousands of school children."

Could Raise Thousands.

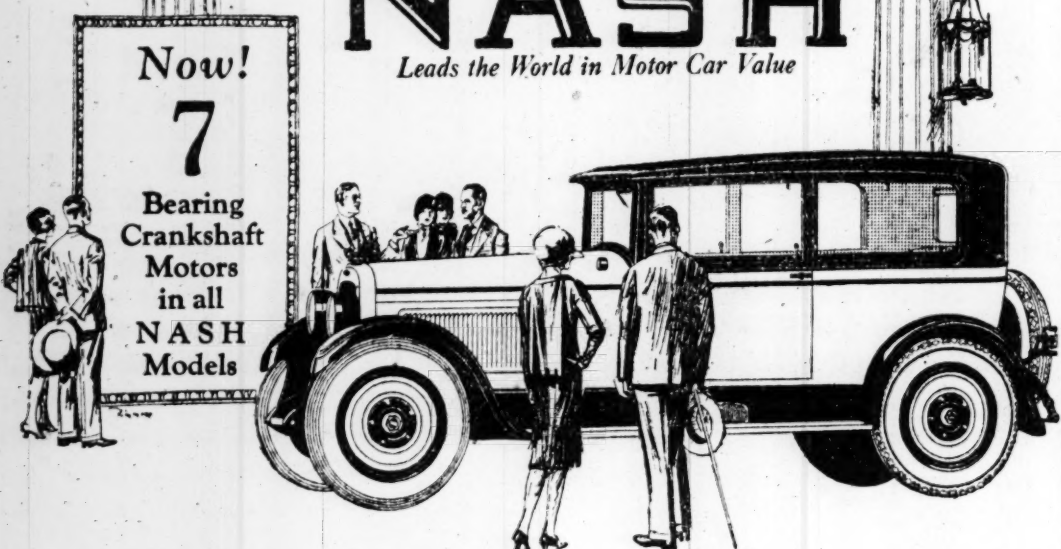

"We could raise thousands upon thousands at once if some other worthy cause presented itself to the every necessity of their children. Neither will a city, a state or a nation be respected or continue to prove prosperous when they fail in the important matter of caring for its own youth—its young and helpless and in looking well to the present, in caring for the future citizenship of our country."

A Better Method Now, For Rupture

Kansas City, Mo., (Special).—A happy invention which, experts agree, has no equal for relief of groin rupture, is the latest accomplishment of the well-known Hernia Specialist, Dr. Andrew Kaiser, 1226 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. The extraordinary results of this new method proclaim its success. It has no hard goulging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no cruel pinching steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. Hundreds of people have declared it has enabled them to throw away their old trusses and enjoy freedom from their previous torture. Many of these had double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Kaiser's ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and benefit of his invention, and he will send it on trial to any reader of The Atlanta Constitution who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish quick relief, possibly from worsening condition, take advantage of the doctor's generous offer. Write him today.—adv.

Keep Fit!

Good Health Requires Good Elimination.

The rush, hurry, and worry of modern life throws a heavy strain on the vital organs. We are inclined to eat too much, drink too little water, and get too little fresh air and exercise. It is little wonder that our organs are apt to become sluggish.

Good health requires good elimination. If the kidneys fail to fully perform their functions, body poisons are left in the blood stream and one is apt to feel dull, languid, tired and achy. A dull, nagging backache is sometimes a symptom with drowsy headaches and dizzy spells. Evidence that the kidneys are not functioning perfectly is sometimes found in burning or scanty passage of the secretions.

While, naturally, all backache does not come from the kidneys, if you have reason to suspect your kidneys are not properly filtering the blood, it is a good plan to take things easier, drink plenty of pure water, and assist your kidneys with a stimulant diuretic.

Doan's Pills have established a nationwide reputation. They are endorsed by users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

"SERVING THE SOUTH FOR MORE THAN SIXTY YEARS"

GEORGIA—AND THE SOUTHEASTERN FAIR

THE SOUTHEASTERN FAIR, most eloquent spokesman for the enterprise and progress of Atlanta, of Georgia and of the New South, is in full swing at Lakewood.

From the mountains of our northern counties come red-cheeked apples rivaling those of far Oregon; from South Georgia comes the tobacco which is giving our state a new crop and a new income. Peaches and alfalfa, pecans and dairy products, food crops of wide variety; fat hogs and pedigreed cattle, all are here to prove that Georgia is no longer a "one-crop state."

There's nothing wrong with Georgia, as anyone may see who spends a day at the Southeastern Fair. She is up and doing, learning new ideas, gaining a new vision. Far-sighted men of East and West are saying: "Go South, young man, for there is the new frontier—the scene of this country's greatest industrial development."

For more than sixty years the Atlanta and Lowry National Bank has eagerly aided in the agricultural development of Georgia and the South—and the same spirit of service which actuated the founders of the bank in 1865 is alive today, keeping the institution abreast of the times. As Georgia has grown so has this bank, and today, with resources of more than $60,000,000, it is equipped to serve in an even greater measure than in the past.

"SERVING THE SOUTH FOR MORE THAN SIXTY YEARS"

MEN WHO MADE THE WORLD

Fernando Cortez

By DR. ELLIOTT SHORING,
NOTED HISTORIAN

FERNANDO CORTÉZ, CONQUEROR OF MEXICO, WAS BORN IN THE LITTLE TOWN OF MEDELLIN, SPAIN, 1485. HIS FATHER, A CAPTAIN IN THE SPANISH CAVALRY, AND HIS MOTHER RAN A PROVINCIAL NOBILITY. IN INFANCY CORTÉZ, LIKE JULIUS CAESAR AND NAPOLEON BONAPARTE, WAS SO DELICATE THAT HIS PARENTS DESPAIRED OF RAISING HIM TO MAJORITY. BUT BY THE TIME HE HAD ATTAINED MAJORITY, HIS POWERS OF ENDURANCE WERE TREMENDOUS AND CARRIED HIM THROUGH A LIFE OF EXTRAORDINARY HARSHIPS AND CEASELESS ACTIVITY.

AT FOURTEEN, HIS PARENTS SENT HIM TO THE UNIVERSITY OF SALAMANCA TO PREPARE HIM FOR THE PRACTICE OF LAW. THE BOY SPENT TWO YEARS IN THE UNIVERSITY BUT DEVELOPED NO INCLINATION TO SERIOUS STUDY OF ANY KIND. HIS TASTES WERE WHOLLY FOR ARMS AND A LIFE OF ADVENTURE. HE THEN JOINED THE EXPEDITION OF DON OVANDO, RECENTLY APPOINTED GOVERNOR OF HISPANIOLA (HAITI) AND WAS TO SAIL FOR SANTO DOMINGO, FEBRUARY 13, 1502.

BUT YOUNG FERNANDO POSSESSED A LOVE FOR INTRIGUE WHICH THEN AND LATER PROVED DETRIMENTAL TO HIS FORTUNES. GOING OUT ONE NIGHT "TO SPEAK WITH A LADY" HE FELL FROM A HIGH WALL HE WAS CLIMBING IN THE DARK. HE BARELY ESCAPED WITH HIS LIFE FOR A SWORDSMAN ALMOST RAN HIM THROUGH BELIEVING HIM A THIEF, AND HE RECEIVED SUCH INJURIES THAT HE WAS STILL CONFINED TO HIS BED WHEN OVANDO'S FLEET SAILED FOR AMERICA.

EXPEDITIONS FROM SPAIN TO THE NEW WORLD WERE RELATIVELY NUMEROUS IN THOSE DAYS. IN 1504, CORTÉZ LEARNED THAT A FLEET WAS SETTING OUT FOR SANTO DOMINGO. HE MANAGED WITH THE AID OF HIS FATHER, TO SECURE A PASSAGE. STORMY WEATHER BLEW THE SHIP FROM ITS COURSE, AND SHORT OF PROVISIONS AND WATER, THE ENTIRE CREW WAS IN IMMINENT DANGER OF STARVATION. WHEN LAND WAS FINALLY SIGHTED ON EASTERN SUNDAY, 1504, THEY ARRIVED IN SAFETY AT THE PORT OF SANTO DOMINGO.

WHEN THE LAST OF THE NATIONAL DEBT HAD BEEN PAID, CONGRESS, AT JACKSON'S SUGGESTION, IN 1836 ORDERED THE SURPLUS IN THE TREASURY TO BE DISTRIBUTED AMONG THE STATES. MANY OF THE STATES USED THIS MONEY TO BEGIN COSTLY WORK ON CANALS AND RAILROADS, SOME OF WHICH WERE NEVER COMPLETED AND ACCUMULATED A HEAVY STATE DEBT.

THE RAPID DEVELOPMENT OF THE WEST AND THE SALE OF PUBLIC LANDS HAD CAUSED MUCH WILD SPECULATING. "WILD-CAT" BANKS WITH LITTLE CAPITAL ISSUED BANKS OF WORTHLESS PAPER MONEY AND THE PUBLIC, SEEING SO MUCH MONEY IN CIRCULATION GOT THE FALSE IDEA THAT THE COUNTRY WAS ON THE CREST OF A WAVE OF PROSPERITY.

Financial Panic of 1837. by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

ALARMED AT THE VAST SALES OF PUBLIC LANDS FOR PAPER MONEY OF DOUBTFUL WORTH, PRESIDENT JACKSON IN 1836 ISSUED THE "SPECIE CIRCULAR" WHICH DEMANDED THAT ALL GOVERNMENT LAND PURCHASED SHOULD BE PAID FOR IN GOLD OR SILVER.

THE BANKS HAD LESS THAN 38 MILLION DOLLARS IN COIN ON HAND TO COVER AN ISSUE OF 525 MILLIONS IN NOTES AND GREAT NUMBERS OF THEM WERE FORCED TO CLOSE OR SUSPEND PAYMENTS. THE CRASH CAUSED WIDESPREAD SUFFERING AND FOR A TIME A REIGN OF ANARCHY THREATENED.

Internal Strife Splits Ranks Of Holder Ring as Candidate Begs Votes, Donehoo Declares Fight Grows in Intensity as Political Doom Draws Near, Hardman Manager Claims.

"From all of the numerous reports of friction, bad feeling and family discord in the John Holder headquarters in the Kimball house it is evident that the boys over there realize that they are riding fast to a hard fall, in fact, that the inevitable period of disintegration in the Holder organization already has set in," said Paul Donehoo, chairman of the Fulton County Hardman club Saturday afternoon. The statement continues: "Persistent rumors continue to float out from the throne room, the lieutenant's quarters and inner confines of the Holder headquarters, to the effect that the boys over there are fighting among themselves, fighting with a degree of intensity that is increasing as the hour of Holder's political doom draws nearer. Editors at Loggerheads. "The editor of one paper and the editor of another are reported to have become personally and irreconcilably at loggerheads, figuratively, if not literally, upon one or two occasions during the past week. Fred Bridges is said to be boiling mad at the whole lot and caboodle.

It is further rumored that Herman Miller threatens mutiny, that Hub Dean is good and sore at Tom Hamilton, and that the latter and Sam Olive have had an awful fight. It is said there are all in a seething ferment of strife, each pitted against all and all against each. "The cause belli is said to be manifold—money, leadership, campaign issues, methods and policies and glory—if there is any glory to be gotten out of it. They are reported as to have quarreled about whether or not John Holder should be pulled in from the stump, and about whether a bull calf, a milk cow, a counterpane or what became of the $21,000 of highway department money that sunk with the Blairsville bank should be made the paramount issue of the campaign. It is said they have had several nasty jussas about who is the real boss in the diggings, and about how the campaign ought to be run. And where there is so much smoke there must be some fire. "Divided Against Itself. "That the house is divided against itself—and Holy Writ tells us what happens under that condition. Thus the internecine war goes merrily on, while the innocent neophyte candidate is looking about him, wondering what is going on. He is told by the state telling the people they ought to elect him governor because Dr. Hardman once presented J. J. Brown with a blooded bull calf and accepted a milk cow from a former patient in payment of a doctor's bill. "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad" is a saying that is as true as the sun, and those boys are said to be very, very mad and getting madder and madder as the remaining days of the campaign go by. "And Dr. Hardman is out winning friends and supporters and getting votes by the thousands every day.

Sherrard Kennedy To Head 'Big Givers' Group for Chest

Prominent Banker To Head Committee—Relief Agency Directors To Meet Tonight.

J. Sherrard Kennedy, vice president of the Atlanta and Lowry National bank, will head the special committee which will canvass all individuals and organizations in the city considered financially able to give in large amounts to the community chest, it was announced Monday by Thomas K. Glenn, chairman of the executive committee for the campaign which begins October 22. Members of the committee are to be appointed this week after conference between Mr. Kennedy and other members of the campaign executive committee, which includes Preston Arkwright, Eugene R. Black, Thomas C. Law and Eugene Gibson, president of the chest. "The social service and relief needs of a great city like Atlanta are so immense that it would break any small group of rich men to try to meet them without the generous support of everyone else who is financially able to give even as much as $5," Mr. Glenn said in announcing Mr. Kennedy's appointment. "Opportunity for All. "We believe that the rank and file of people in Atlanta would resent the imputation that each of them, whether he earns $300 a week or $300 a week, is not willing to do his fair share in feeding the hungry, clothing the naked and giving shelter to the homeless. Giving is not particularly a luxury of the rich; it is an opportunity for everyone to share and everyone who has the spark of charity in his soul to enjoy," he asserted. "In this campaign, however, we believe that we can do no better thing than to expect that the Master's junction be observed and that each be asked to give even as it has been given unto him. On that basis we intend to ask some to give more than others, some to give a great deal more, and we believe that those who can afford to be liberal will be liberal. The community chest fund is a fund of love as well as of money and into it must go both the widow's mite and the rich man's talent; lacking either it would be an empty and futile thing." In Earlier Campaigns. Mr. Kennedy has been active in the three previous campaigns waged to fill the community chest. His interest in relief and welfare work was recognized by the governor of Georgia when he was appointed a member of the State Board of Public Welfare, which acts as an inspecting and advisory body for all public welfare institutions such as hospitals, orphanages, homes for mental and physical defective, jails and other institutions of the kind. Mr. Kennedy is a former president of the Kiwanis club, and it was during his administration as president that the club assumed the foster-fatherhood of the Home for the Friendless, contributing largely in time and money to making the lives of the unfortunate hapless and giving them a better chance for a fair start in life when they grow too old for the prospective influence of the home. "My experience in welfare and relief work in Atlanta has convinced me that the community chest plan is the only one through which an intelligent and really effective program of relief and service can be carried out," Mr. Kennedy said in accepting the appointment. "Before the chest was established, money-raising campaigns much time that was badly needed by the poor, and much money was wasted through overlapping. The chest must be filled, and I am ready to give as much as I can both in time and in money to fill it."

urging them to cancel all conflicting engagements in order to participate in the vitally important business of the meeting. The session tonight will be the first general gathering of all directors of all the agencies held this year. Each of the 34 different agencies operates independently of all the others in doing its relief and social service work. Each is governed by a separate board of directors, and in the same way that it was before the chest was formed and when each agency was compelled to go before the public with its support each year. The community chest is the medium through which the money is raised in one general campaign each year for the support of all the agencies and which relieves them of the work of soliciting subscriptions and collecting pledges, enabling the individual agencies to devote all their thought and labor toward rendering the service and relief for which they were established. Negro Organization Complete. Completion of the chest campaign organization for the negro group, which is to be canvassed for funds for the support of negro agencies of the chest at the same time with the white appeal opening October 22, two weeks from Friday, was announced Sunday by Dr. W. F. Boddie, director of the group. The campaign executive committee will be Dr. Boddie, chairman; L. L. Craig, assistant chairman; L. A. Pinkston, secretary; C. L. Harper, assistant secretary. The committee to solicit large gifts will be S. W. Walker, chairman, with Charles W. Green and Kemper Harrell, assistants. The school committee will have Agnes Jones as chairman, and C. L. Harper, as assistant chairman. Ward organizations will be headed by W. A. Bell as chairman, with H. R. Butler, as assistant. Individual gifts will be solicited by an organization headed by T. J. Ferguson, chairman, with S. M. Johnson as assistant. The publicity committee will be headed by B. J. Davis, editor of The Atlanta Independent, with Jesse Thomas as chairman, and the speakers' bureau will be led by J. C. Arnold as chairman. Records of the negro group campaign will be kept by Alonzo Thayer. Denominational groups among the churches will be headed as follows: A. M. E. J. L. Butler, pastor of Big Bethel A. M. E. church, chairman; Baptist, A. D. Williams, chairman; C. M. E. G. L. Ward, chairman; M. E. P. M. Travis, chairman; Congregationalist, Rev. Lindsey, chairman; Episcopal, Rev. Blanchworth; Episcopalian, Rev. Tom, chairman; Holiness, H. K. Burrus, chairman.

RESTAURANT MEN DUE HERE TODAY

Three special trains are due in Atlanta today bearing a majority of the more than 5,000 restaurant men of the nation who are gathering here this week for the eighth annual convention of the National Restaurant Men's association to be held in the Auditorium-Armory in response to an invitation from Governor Clifford Walker and other prominent leaders of the state. This is the first time in the history of the association that a convention has been held in the south, and leading men in the restaurant business of the entire south have joined Atlanta members of the body in making the meeting here a memorable one. Among other numerous features planned for the entertainment of the visiting delegates is a national exposition of modern machines, equipment and supplies at the opening of each day's session. Although a large number of the delegates arrived Sunday and an even larger number is expected here today, the convention does not open officially until Tuesday, when welcome addresses will be made by Governor Walker and Mayor Sims, who will extend the freedom of the city to the visitors on their first trip to a convention in the south. The annual presidents' reception and dance will be held at the Biltmore Tuesday. At the close of the first business session Wednesday the visiting restaurant men will be taken Wednesday afternoon on a motor trip to Stone Mountain, where a southern barbecue with Brunswick stew and all the "trimmings" that have made those dishes famous will be served. Wednesday night the delegates will be served a typical "down-south" dinner at the Ansley hotel. On Thursday night the annual banquet will be served at the Biltmore. Friday morning the body will hear reports of the group meetings to be held Tuesday. Ed Venable, of Atlanta, is chairman of the service section; C. Hayman, Kansas City, is chairman of the cafeteria section, and John

M. Welch, Omaha, of the dairy-lunch section. Women attending the convention will be given an automobile trip to Grant park Thursday, where they will be shown the "Battle of Atlanta" cyclorama. John Bull Plans To Play Dentist For 15,000,000 London, October 13.—John Bull is hanging out his sign as dentist to 15,000,000 people. Such a policy assures you that when you go to the store and make a purchase it is absolutely new merchandise that you buy. It is a well-known fact that the vogue in furniture and household furnishings changes just as surely as the vogue in clothes. Although this change in furniture vogue may not come about as rapidly, the change comes nevertheless, and people who are interested in keeping up with the times want the latest ideas in furniture design when they buy. Anyone who does the quality and style of the furniture offered for sale by Stephen Philibosian, Inc., need only visit this beautiful store and see the merchandise for themselves. Cash Policy Means Lower Prices. Here is a store that offers the "ultra smart" in furniture and home furnishings at prices far lower than you would expect to pay for such merchandise. When one goes through this big establishment and sees the amazingly low prices marked on furniture that has such obvious quality and distinction, it is really amazing. The explanation is that here is a firm that sells only for cash and by selling for cash they are able to operate on a very low margin of profit. In the last analysis it is this cash policy, which enables the firm of Stephen Philibosian, Inc., to advertise their never conducted "Special Sale." It is this cash policy which enables them to mark merchandise so low in price in the beginning that it is not necessary to conduct a special cut-price sale in order to move the goods. Visit This Store Before You Buy. Anyone contemplating the purchase of furniture, rugs or draperies will make a big mistake not to visit the beautiful store of Stephen Philibosian, Inc., at 581 Peachtree street, before buying. Here is an establishment that offers the most advanced ideas in home furnishings at prices that are really amazingly low. When you go to this store and see the prices that their cash policy makes possible, you will realize just what it costs for you to say "Charge It!" (adv.)

PICTURESQUE SPOT IN ITALY BARRED TO ALL TOURISTS

Geneva, October 3.—One of the most picturesque spots in the Tyrolean Alps, long the haunt of tourists seeking scenic beauty, has been barred as a resort district in order to give Italian military authorities a new location for their army headquarters. Black Butterflies

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

SYNOPSIS.

Dorinda Maxwell, the wealthiest young woman in Grandon, brings upon herself the enmity of the town by her association with the Black Butterflies, a club made up of social outcasts. Her attorney, Green Hatch, remonstrates with her and advises her to take on a chaperon. Dorinda tells him she will not give up the freedom that was denied her during her father's lifetime.

Hatch sends David Goddard, his clerk, to Dorinda's house with some papers that require her signature and the help of the young law student.

Dorinda is worried by the gossip about herself and calls on Norma Davis, an old friend, with the hope of keeping their friendship alive. Norma tells Dorinda that her father, Judge Davis, objects to her friendship. She asks Dorinda why she doesn't marry and Dorinda gives her the same answer she gave to her attorney.

Later Dorinda telephones to Goddard and asks him to call at her house that night. She asks him to marry her, the arrangement to be strictly a matter of business. He refuses.

INSTALLMENT XIII. A FATEFUL DECISION.

Dorinda sank lower in her chair and spoke without looking at Goddard. "It's my last chance," she confided to the listening room—"my very last chance."

He was almost at the door, but the words reached him.

"That's all nonsense," he said, turning and fairly snapping the words at her. "There are lots of men—you will meet some one—"

She smiled.

"It's my only chance, and you know it."

"Good God, even if it were, what's that to me? I've only spoken to you half a dozen times in my life!"

"But you know all about me, and I know all about you."

He turned and came back to her, drawn by a force he did not understand. Possibly it was the increasing lure of the great adventure to one who had never had an adventure. His blood was tingling. Never before had he felt so intensely alive. But he made the points his brain dictated.

"Miss Maxwell, can't you realize what you are asking?" he begged.

"Why, if I did this thing I'd simply be a parasite!"

"You would work, and you would work hard. You would earn every cent I paid you."

"I don't see how. I'd be contemptible in my own eyes and in the eyes of everybody else. I'd despise myself. My nature would rot under such a life. A form ceremony—a toothless watchdog! How in God's name can you imagine that any community would be impressed by such a marriage?"

"No one would know anything about that except ourselves," she pointed out. But her voice held no entreaty, for she believed now that the game was lost. "Every one else would think it was a real marriage and a happy one. Of course, if we couldn't give them that impression the experiment would be a failure. You would earn part of your salary by good acting."

For a few moments he stared past her into the fire, while the call of adventure grew louder. Talk about exploring unknown continents! What was that to such a leap in the dark as this?

"Have you worked out the details?" he asked, crisply.

"Of course, I have."

"Let's hear them."

He had not known her face could flash into flame like that, and he watched the phenomenon with interest.

"Then you will consider it?"

"What you have just said may make a difference. I'll listen." "It's got to be done in the right way," she repeated, realizing that this point had impressed him. "People must think it's the real thing. If they don't there will be no sense in doing it at all. My plan is that you will come here several times a week for a few weeks, to dinner and dances, like any other friend—as if you were getting interested, you know. We have known each other six months, and every one in town knows that you brought me home the night of Norma's party." She shied away from the memory of that night. For some reason this was not the time to bring it in. "For all people know we might have seen each other often since," she went on, hurriedly. "But from now on we must be seen together constantly."

"I understand," he grimly interpreted. "One of these whirlwind courtships we read about."

She nodded. "The neighbors will watch it till their eyes stick out. At first they will think I am dragging you to perdition. Then they'll begin to see that we're going to the right things—concerts and oratorios." She made a childish face at him. "They'll think we're in love. They will see a change in me, an uplift. They will realize that you're going to marry and reform me!"

"If we're going to talk about the matter at all, let's be serious," he stiffly suggested.

"I have never been so serious in my life," she assured him, "and I never expect to be as serious again. For, I warn you right now, I'm not going to 'settle down' or any nonsense of that kind. I'm simply going to make a bid for complete independence and my own money and for a little different place in the community, and I'll reform just enough to hold them, and no more. That must be understood. I'll never give up Kitty and Chad and Jim. But the neighbors won't expect a radical change in me very soon. They will know you'll need time, and they'll be patient. I think—especially if Norma and Judge Davis stand by. Do you think they would?" she broke off to ask.

"Yes."

"I think so, too. You see," she hurried on, "one of my grudges against the world is that almost no one ever came near me except Norma. I suppose they didn't dare to, because of father. It was Norma's party that cost my mother's life—I'll tell you about that some time. After mother and father died the neighbors should have come, but they didn't. They were shocked by the fact that I was dancing the night my mother died. Besides, I suppose the servants repeated some things I had said. I hated everybody—just then. But I will hold out an olive branch after we're married, and if they will take it I'll try to stand a little of them."

"It begins to sound more promising," he admitted. "How about the rest of the details?"

"O, well, after the whirlwind courtship we can be married, very quietly, soon after the holidays."

"Thank God for the quiet wedding!" he ejaculated.

"We can even go off to Chester by ourselves, and be married without saying anything to anybody, if you prefer that."

"I prefer that," he briefly agreed.

"From then on," she resumed, "we'll simply settle into a comfortable routine. Of course, we shall have to be careful about the servants—not to let them suspect. If they knew, the whole town would know. Meantime I'll keep Annie on by hinting of coming changes. I don't want a stranger here. We will tell every one we have agreed to respect each other's independence—that it's part of our program. So no one will expect you to dance attendance on me too much."

She had thought it all out!

"There's the matter of your property," he reminded her. "You must protect yourself. But you could do that by a prenuptial agreement, in which I should have all rights."

"She gurgled. She had a nice laugh and a really wonderful smile. He began to suspect that many of the mannerisms he disliked were excrecences newly acquired.

"Mr. Hatch can draw it up. We will tell him it's the only condition on which you consent to marry a rich girl."

He looked down at her. For some reason it was no longer easy to think clearly. Life itself was pounding at the closed door he had never opened to it. Life and adventure and ambition, and—yes—sympathy, too, hammered at that closed door with hard, persistent fists. If he opened it to them, if he let them troop in and take possession, what would they do to him? He looked at the girl. Her eyes were on the fire, but she had an air of breathless waiting—as if she, too, heard those pounding fists.

Words sounded now, among the clamor—the words of Kimball, a man he greatly admired.

"Learn to do quick thinking and make quick decisions," Kimball had once advised him. "It's better to be wrong sometimes than slow always."

Kimball hadn't been thinking of a decision like this—a decision on which a man's whole future might rest. Still—

Goddard drew a deep breath.

"All right," he said with a straight look at her. "I'll do it."

Alexander Hurls Cards To 6-to-2 Victory Over Yanks

Veteran Moundsman Strikes Out Ten Men To Beat New Yorkers

Cardinal Hurler Holds Yankees to No Hits After Third Inning With Great Pitching—Southworth Clouts 4-Base Hit to Score 3 Runs in Seventh Inning.

look much stronger than the Yanks. Sunday's game furnished a good line upon the capabilities of this fighting St. Louis outfit and an idea of the limitations of Miller Huggins' pitching staff.

The Yankees, of course, were helpless in the hands of Alexander. The gallant southpaw, who has misbehaved considerably in his day, and who was discarded in mid-season by the Chicago Cubs because of breaking training rules, made the heaviest hitters of "murderers' row" almost break their backs swinging vainly at his fast curve.

In one inning—the fourth—Alexander struck out Gehrig, Lazzeri and Dugan in quick succession.

Fanned All But One. Every Yankee except Earl Combs fanned at least once, and after the third inning only one ball was hit out of the infield by the New York batters. Those who failed to strike out rolled weakly to left and right, which was playing peppy and air-tight baseball.

The climax of the game came in the seventh, with the score tied 2 and 2, and both Shocker and Alexander working effectively.

Bob O'Farrell, the sturdy Cardinal catcher, first man up, doubled to deep center field. Thevenow, the youngster who is noted for coming through in the pinches, singled in front of Bob Meusel.

Fear of Holt's good right arm kept O'Farrell at third base. There was no question of a pinch-hitter for Alexander, naturally, as the pitcher went to bat and fired weakly to Tony Lazzeri. Douthitt, digging his cleats into the dirt, swung mightily but succeeded only in raising an easy fly to Meusel.

Crashes Out Home Run. There was no hint of the drama to come when Billy Southworth went to the plate. It appeared as though Shocker had pitched himself out of a bad hole. Southworth fouled a couple nervously, and then—

A crash of ash on horsehide.

Pandemonium broke out in the vast stadium.

The fans knew that old familiar Southworth, though they could not see the flight of the ball. Out in right field Babe Ruth was running like mad toward the stands.

He leaped up, into the wire netting which keeps the fans from the field. He waved vainly with his glove at the white ball as it soared just out of his reach, into the tumultuous, scrambling group of fans.

O'Farrell and Thevenow already had crossed the plate and Billy Southworth came trotting around after them, grinning from ear to ear.

The Cardinals swarmed out of their dugout and leaped about for joy. They pounded Southworth on the back and shrieked and turned somersaults.

Home Decided Battle. After that there never was a doubt about the outcome of the ball game.

With New York unable to get a man to first base, Miller Huggins tried all sorts of strategic moves. He sent Bob Shawkey in to pitch in the eighth, after Jimmie Reardon had struck a rousing single to right field, and later replaced Shawkey by Sam Sam Jones.

Ben Paschal and "Dutch" Reuther came into the game in the eighth as pinch-hitters. Alexander struck out Paschal and threw out Reuther.

In the ninth the Yankees knew they were licked and didn't even try.

Babe Ruth, who had a bad day, presented the Cardinals with their sixth and last run in this inning.

After Lazzeri had thrown out O'Farrell, Thevenow cracked one down the right field foul line. It was fair by inches, but Ruth lost the ball in the corner of the playing field and while he was looking about for it, Thevenow completed the result of the bases and was credited with a home run.

At the start of the game the Yankees looked like winners. Alexander had a little trouble locating the plate and passed Earl Combs, the first man up. A fast double play cut down this base runner, however, and the Babe struck out.

Bothered by Umpire. In the second inning Alexander struck out Bob Meusel at least twice, but Hank O'Day, officiating behind the plate, was doubtful with his eyesight and didn't see them that way.

After Meusel had been given life on a couple of balls which should have been called strikes, Bob drove a single to center.

Alex then threw out Gehrig, but he was still annoyed about the umpiring and Tony Lazzeri slapped a single to left. Meusel, running like a greyhound, scoring from second. Haffey's throw might have cut him down, but Alexander, for some unknown reason, intercepted it.

Joe Dugan singled and Hank Severid struck out. With Shocker at bat, an easy strikeout victim, it seemed as (though the scoring must be over, but the pesky Yanks started a double steal and got away with it.

They never should have done so, but for an error by the unfortunate Alexander, who got into action while Lazzeri was being run down between third and home and made a poor throw to Lester Bell.

Lazzeri was well nigh winded from having been chased back and forth by half the St. Louis team, but he got up and dashed home while Bell, Thevenow and Haffey were trying to discover where Alexander had thrown the ball. Tony slid across the plate on the back of his head and was so exhausted he could scarcely crawl to the dug-out.

Cards Score Two. The Cardinals got those two runs back in the third by good hard hitting Douthitt singled to left center. Southworth pushed a single to left, and Rogers Hornsby, who had doubted his first time at bat, declined the hero role and laid down a sacrifice bunt.

Big Jim Bottomley, the only Cardinal who could do anything with Penock's pitching Saturday, drove a single between Ruth and Combs and Douthitt and Southworth scored.

In their half of the third, the Yankees got their fourth and last hit, a single to right by Earl Combs. From then on they simply went to the plate and back to the dug-out. Except for Shocker, who went to the showers in the seventh.

The Cardinals made twelve hits for a total of 20 bases, a most respectable total for a world series game. They played with spirit and they looked like coming champions.

THE TWO MASTERS

The two masters in the second game of the world series between the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees, Grover Cleveland Alexander, left, veteran hurler, obtained by the Cardinals from the Chicago Cubs on waivers in the middle of the season, who hurled the Cardinals to victory over the Yanks, striking out 10 men and only allowing four hits. On the right is Southworth, St. Louis right fielder, who clouted a home run in the seventh inning, with two men on base, which spelled victory for the Cardinals.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS

Modern Pied Piper.

What is it about Charles C. Pyle besides his offers of money which has such an effect on our amateur athletes? We do not know but it is certain that when they listen to the golden song of "Cash-and-Carry" Pyle they fall by wholesale.

The latest acquisition to the Pyle tennis "stable" is Vincent Richards, youthful star of the courts who was, until Saturday one of the four best male net artists in the United States. Richards will join the barnstorming tour planned by Pyle during the winter.

This loss to the amateur tennis ranks will be keenly felt when the time comes for another Davis Cup team to take its place around the net, but a hint by Pyle when he announced that Richards had signed gives rise to even more misgivings.

In the words of Mr. Pyle he will soon announce the contract of an even greater American star than Richards. This can mean but one thing if the "go-get-em" manager is telling the truth—either William Tilden or Bill Johnston will probably sign shortly. If this is the case where will the Davis Cup team come from another year?

Page Father Time.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, the aged twirler of the St. Louis Cardinals, has carved himself a niche among the heroic figures of baseball.

Sunday the "old man" held the slugging Yankees to four scattered hits and struck out ten men in the course of nine innings. A feat reminiscent of the best days of the great Mathewson. He walked but one man and figured in one double play. A record to be envied by the best of them.

One great feature of Alexander's afternoon's work is the fact that the ten men he fanned include the names of Ruth, Severid, Gehrig, Lazzeri, Meusel and Paschal, representing the great strength of the Yankee batting list.

The Cardinal sluggers dug their bit to aid Alexander in his 6-to-2 victory over the New Yorkers by clouting two home runs and two doubles off the delivery of Shocker and Shawkey. Sunday's performance may tend to cut the odds on the Yankees.

Candler Will Drive Entries at Lakewood

Walter Candler will handle the reins over two of his swiftest trotters in the opening events of the Southeastern Fair horse racing meeting beginning at 1 o'clock this afternoon, it was announced Sunday night by Arthur L. Brooke, president of the Southeastern Fair association.

Mr. Candler will drive Lullawatt, his sensational bay filly, in the first race, the 2:25 trot against the rising-fast Juliette Daugherty, W. L. Garli's bay mare, and two other swift entries.

Juliette Daugherty loomed as the favorite in the first race Sunday night when a checkup on records showed the mare to have scored an actual time of 2:08 1/2 for the mile in the Chattanooga last week, although she still remains eligible for the 2:25 by virtue of the fact that the time was made since September 1, the last date on which class eligibility was assigned.

Sir Dillion Entered. Sir Dillion, the handsome black gelding owned and driven by Dr. D. L. Penock, of Athens, which finished first in the last event of the Fourth of July race meeting after one of the gamest battles a major have upon the track during the meeting, is a third entry in the first event.

Prospect, black gelding owned by Russell and Son, is the fourth entry. Mr. Candler will drive his favorite, Lucy C, in the 2:16 trot, the last of the three events on the day's card.

List of Events. Event No. 2, 2:14 pace—Twinkling Bell, black mare, owned by W. A. Moore; Lynett, chestnut mare, owned by Russell and Son; Harvest Dew, brown mare, owned by Dr. D. L. Penock; Mabel R., brown mare, owned by J. H. Armstrong; of Woodville; Myron McGee, bay gelding, owned by Mr. C. Huer.

Perry Green Medalist In Jaycee Tournament

Shooting a beautiful 74 in the qualifying round of the Junior Chamber of Commerce golf tournament being held over the Piedmont links, J. Perry Green won the handsome silver low medalist trophy offered by Wallace Lindquist, professional at Piedmont.

Green showed some remarkable golf in his qualifying round, getting beautiful drives and approach shots. His putting also was excellent. In the 18 holes he had an easy time and was very seldom in a hole.

Match Play Today. The first round of match play will begin today and last through Wednesday, when all first-round matches must be completed. The second round will start Thursday and end up the last of the week. All entrants are requested to arrange their matches as soon as possible as officials of the tournament want to complete two rounds of play each week.

A large list of attractive prizes and trophies will be given to the winners of the tournament, including silver trophies, golf clubs, golf bags, balls and other things that go to make up a golf layout. Prizes to be awarded to each of the winners will be announced in The Constitution at a later date.

Alexander Redeems Self With Victory Over Huggins Clan

Ex-Cub Hurler Makes Great Comeback by Beating Yanks in World Series, Fanning 10 Men and Allowing Only 4 Hits—Three Yank Pitchers Battle Against Veteran.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.) Yankee Stadium, New York, October 3.—Grover Alexander, incorrigible old pitcher who lost his job with the Cubs a few months ago because he annoyed his roommate by eating apples in bed in a loud tone of voice and was always a day behind in his shaving, today flouted his antique throwing arm at the Yankees in the second game of the world series, holding them to four hits and beating them six to two. He did this in the presence of 63,600 subscribers who not only filled all the pews in the stadium but squatted in some of the aisles and festooned some of the girders in unique adaptations of the human form.

The elderly Alexander tolerated no hitting whatever after the third inning and with the Yankees thus held in check the Cardinals, of St. Louis, made themselves obnoxious to Urban Shocker and Sam Jones whose services were broken with two aces, or home runs.

The sun warmed the gay Sabbath scene in the big yard by the "U. I." tracks and the Cardinals in summer negligee on an autumn day. The smoke of cigarette hung drowsily in the air, a misquid crocus, anti-pating spring, began to croak, and a near-sighted street jerk, or squirrel, in search of building material was noticed making passes at the billowy white pall of his honor, Judge Landis when the judge returned his famous campaign hat, a souvenir of James G. Blaine's campaign. The soda bottles sweated as the boys went stumbling through the aisles hanging the clientele on the ships

Amusements

Loew's Grand.

The noted song and dance revue of Barnett and Thomas which is produced by Loew Cantor and William Brandt will be offered as the head-line attraction on the new bill of vaudeville which opens Monday at Loew's Grand theater. Herbert Barnett and Jack Thomas have perfected one of the best revues in vaudeville and are assisted by several clever entertainers including the Doll sisters, Patty Spiro and Chappy and Libby Kay. Four other acts on the new bill are great. The Loew feature picture is "Battling Butler," with Buster Keaton.

The Rialto.

The Rialto theater is featuring Rint-Tin-Tin in his latest picture, "A Hero of the Big Shows," written by Ewart Edmondson. Although his success and popularity has brought other animal actors to the screen, Rinty surpasses them all in his powerful physique and remarkable intelligence.

It will be accompanied by a series of other fine entertainment.

The Forsyth.

ers," at the Forsyth theater, with expectations of seeing one of the greatest present day shows. And no one will be mistaken because the play is the most talked about stage feature at present.

Tenth Street Theater.

For showings today and tomorrow, the new Tenth Street theater offers "adultery," a picture of the sensational Rex Beach novel which was published serially in Cosmopolitan magazine. The popular girl star, Lois Moran, and Noah Beery are starred in this film of society. The story deals with the plight of a girl whose father is a religious crank and he denies her the pleasures and privileges that are accorded the modern girl. The father's brutality causes the death of his wife and the girl leaves home to escape her father's tyranny. The events which follow stamp this as one of the best stories to be screened this year.

West End Theater.

Richard Barthelmess as a prince and Lois Moran, beautiful screen star, as a princess! In the whole world of make-believe, nothing more rapturously counted can be imagined. It all happens in the mythical kingdom of Koronia, a dominion of pomp, ceremony, grandeur—and love. It is "Just Suppose," the play which is playing at the West End theater today and tomorrow. Barthelmess gives an excellent performance. This sort of romance has come to be taken for granted in this splendid star. As for Lois Moran, a relative newcomer to the screen, she is priceless.

The Metropolitan.

Anna Q. Nilsson, charming and talented First National star, returns in the delightful boy-lark of "Ponola" in "Miss Nobody," her latest feature picture, which begins a week's engagement at the Metropolitan theater today. Miss Nilsson is a huge favorite with Atlanta audiences and her newest production is sure to prove a timely attraction for the large crowds that will want to see "Miss Nobody." Leide and his Metropolitan orchestra, a special Hal Roach comedy production, "The Wife Tamers," also are on the program.

The Howard.

A man who knows how to make people laugh is in town. The gifted person is Eddie Cantor and he arrived

FAIR WILL HOLD CHILDREN'S DAY

In the race Monday afternoon, he was here in the early summer conducting a balloon school at Lakewood park and familiarized himself with air currents and conditions here. The practice ascensions of the first two days were arranged to give the other aeronauts an even chance in the races which will be held with $2,000 purses at stake each day during the remainder of the fair.

Parachute Leap to Lake. Aerial MacKay made a second parachute leap into the lake from Captain A. R. McMullen's airplane as another thrill feature for the crowd. Original plans for him to make a high dive into the lake without a parachute were changed when Captain MacMullen found that conditions above the lake made it impossible for him to fly low enough for the high dive to be made with any chance of a safe landing for the stunt man. Instead, MacKay was to make several times at the scheduled hour for the feat, 3:30 o'clock, without getting near the water. As for Lois Moran, a relative newcomer to the screen, she is priceless.

The grandstand amusement program Monday will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon after the first horse race of the day has been paced or trotted.

"Smiling Joe" Basile's band will open the program with a brief concert of popular numbers. The Original Three Bernards, a troupe of aerial acrobats and trapeze performers, will open the vaudeville program. Goldstein and his dog, a clown and dog act, will be the second act. Pete's Pigs, a trained pig act, will be the third one. The Fearless Greys, a noted team composed of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gregg, will make a high point in the program with a double-loop-the-loop in automobiles. A huge runway has been built in front of the grandstand down which Mr. Gregg will plunge in an automobile. He will be followed by Mrs. Gregg in a second car. At the foot of the runway, Mr. Gregg's car springs a trap which hurls it high into the air and sends it spinning completely over as Mrs. Gregg's car shoots under it. The first car lands right side up on the ground an instant after the second one has shot past to safety. Mrs. Gregg has been driving the second car all this year since a former driver was killed through starting a fraction of a second late. The entire act consumes less than five seconds but it is said to be the most thrilling ever presented at a Southern fair.

Repeat Free Acts.

Morale's Trained Dog show will come after the Gregg act, with one of two horse race heats between.

The airplane show and balloon races will be the climax of the program, both being held before the final heat of the last horse race.

Midway Shows Arrive at Fair

Above—Hank Gordy, the Texas cowpuncher star of the wild west rodeo show which is expected to prove a popular feature on the midway at the Southeastern Fair, opening on Children's day (today), demonstrated his stuff on "Calico," his bucking broncho, after arrival at Lake Wood Park Sunday. Below—Five of the beauties of Ethel Dore's water circus took practice dips late Sunday after their arrival to open their daily performances today. The clown has his arms around Dorothy Hamilton, the girl who is to make a second attempt at swimming the English Channel next spring. Ethel Dore is second from the right.

The free acts all will be repeated before the fireworks begin at night. The grandstand show beginning at 8 o'clock and continuing until the fireworks are over between 9:30 and 10 o'clock. The fireworks will feature an enormous set piece showing the head of George Washington nearly 60 feet high. Other features will carry out the sesqui-centennial celebration theme.

All exposition buildings will be open by 9:30 o'clock, including the new fair building with state college of agriculture, boys and girls club work, apple, poultry, pigeon, tobacco and other shows; the Liberal Arts building with the Georgia Tech Fulton county, city of Atlanta and several other school displays and a number of commercial exhibits; the Automobile building with a brilliant array of new automobile models, many of them in operation to demonstrate new automotive inventions; the Sears, Roebuck & company exhibit, displaying the "Automated catalogue" of the company's sold by the company, the radio broadcasting station maintained by the Sears-Roebuck agricultural foundation, and the dog show which occupies the basement of the fair.

TWO CANDIDATES PAY PRIMARY COST

dures, at its meeting held today you were unanimously endorsed for governor for state of Georgia.

"We are well satisfied of the progress of our campaign and pledge ourselves to do everything possible to make the results of the election to be held Wednesday a greater victory for you than we first anticipated. You are gaining every day, and we now predict your election as a certainty."

"If we can serve you please command us."

The assurances of high regard for you, we remain,

"Georgia Division, 457, O. R. C., E. L. Roberts, Secretary."

Mason Statement.

Claude C. Mason, chairman of the Fulton county democratic executive committee, issued the following statement yesterday:

"Obstacles that threatened to prevent the holding of the run-over gubernatorial primary in Fulton county have been removed. It is with pleasure that the county executive committee announces that the forty-one polling places throughout the city and county will be opened Wednesday."

"Mr. Holder's friends in Fulton county already have given to me, as chairman of the executive committee, their proportionate part of the special assessment. I have the assurance of A. S. Chambliss, Dr. Hardman's campaign manager, that he will put up Dr. Hardman's part of the fund tomorrow morning."

To Cost $2,000.

"It will cost $2,000 to hold the primary in Fulton county. Included in this estimate is the cost of printing the ballot, the provision of ballot boxes, the rental of polling places and compensation for election managers and clerks."

"The executive committee has no funds to meet these extraordinary expenses, occasioned by the run-over. The attention of the campaign managers of the contesting candidates was called to this, and they were asked to share the cost."

"The polling places will be announced Monday."

AIMEE PRESENTS "MARTYRS' MARCH"

shouted the evangelist, "but they can't take away your character."

Thunders of Applause.

Thunders of applause greeted each tableau and in the grand finale a man made up presumably in imitation of William Jennings Bryan, was shown contemplating a huge Bible against which leaned a pair of scissors.

Joseph, the evangelist said, spent long months in prison because of circumstantial evidence in the form of a piece of his coat, flamed by the wife of Potiphar.

"And now they dwell on circumstantial evidence. Against me there are charges 'framed,' but I don't think the accusations will hold water," Mrs. McPherson explained.

"My mother"—searching Mrs. Minnie Kennedy out in the crowd—"can remember when I was arrested and thrown into jail in Canada, but prosecution has always rocked the cradle of faith and this cannot be otherwise."

The temple was filled to capacity and hundreds were turned away.

When the preliminary hearing of Mrs. McPherson, her mother, and three others charged with the conspiracy is resumed Monday, District Attorney Keyes will introduce the testimony of more witnesses who claim to have seen the evangelist at Carmel-by-the-Sea and at numerous hotels with Ormiston, former radio operator at Angelus temple.

These witnesses, like numerous others who testified last week, will say that they saw Ormiston and the evangelist together during the period when Mrs. McPherson says she was being held for $500,000 ransom in the Mexican desert by abductors.

Deputy District Attorney Joe Ryan will be one of the new witnesses.

Ryan has been one of the most prominent figures in the investigation and early in the case expressed doubt as to the truth of the famous "kidnapping" tale.

Ryan investigated both the Carmel and Douglas, Ariz., angles of the case and District Attorney Keyes has promised even more sensational disclosures than those of the week just closed.

The scene will probably shift from the Carmel love cottage which the state contends was occupied by the evangelist and her radio operator.

NEGRO BURGLAR MAKES GETAWAY FIRING ON POLICE

Police Monday morning were searching for a negro, who, after robbing an establishment at Alabama street at Central avenue of $20 and a pistol, fired several shots in the direction of Assistant Police Lieutenant C. P. Blanton, Monday morning, who was on duty at the time.

Blanton reported that the negro was about 6 feet tall, weighed about 180 pounds and wore sideburns and a mustache.

BUSINESS FAILURES SHOW DECREASES

Reduction of Insolencies
In Nation Has Lessened
Progressively in Six Months, Dun's Reports.

The insolvency returns for September and for the third quarter of the year are distinctly encouraging. A compilation made by R. G. Dun & Co. shows that there has been a progressive decrease in the number of commercial failures in the United States during each of the last six months, and the September total of 1,437 is the smallest reported for any month in exactly two years.

The reduction from the 1,495 insolencies of September, 1925, is only slight, but allowances should be made for the larger number of firms now in business, which obviously increases the possibilities of financial embarrassment.

From the previous year's high point of 2,236 failures reported last January, the September total discloses a falling off of about 37.1-2 per cent, while last month's liabilities of $29,989,817 are nearly 31 per cent under January's high mark of some $43,000,000. Moreover, the September indebtedness is slightly less than the $30,687,319 of that month of 1925.

Numbering 4,635, commercial defaults in the United States for the third quarter of this year are slightly below the 4,663 insolencies for the corresponding period of 1925. They are, moreover, almost 24 per cent under the failures of the first quarter of the current year. When the statistics of liabilities are examined, especially gratifying results are revealed. The $57,799,486 of indebtedness reported to R. G. Dun & Co. for the third quarter is the smallest for all 1926, and shows a reduction of fully 15 per cent from the $102,351,371 of the third quarter of 1925.

Monthly and quarterly reports of business failures, showing number and

BRAKEMAN SAVES LIFE OF HORSE BY QUICK ACTION

Winston-Salem, N. C., October 3.—(AP)—The quick action of W. E. Patton, Southern Railway brakeman, saved the life of a horse that had been chased onto a trestle here by a mongrel dog.

The horse was lodged when his legs went between the ties. The passenger train from Asheville to Winston-Salem was about due. Mr. Patton, who was at the passenger station here rushed in his automobile and placed a red flag on the track just in time to stop the train. The train was held about 30 minutes and 200 people looked on while the horse was removed from the trestle.

Youthful Girl Violinist To Open Music Club Series

BY ROSEMARY STEVENSON.
In an age of jazz and catalytic musical expression comes a young artist of the 'teen age who believes in the ancient rule that technique must precede expression.

A pretty artist with charming girlishness and bobbed hair, who is heralded as "a clean-cut musician of first rank with remarkable authority and mastery."

This exquisite little violin player a slip of a thing with wistful brown eyes, is Sylvia Lent, who will open the 1926-27 season of the Atlanta Music club on Wednesday at 11 o'clock at the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's club.

Before she can even cast a ballot, she has played with the Chicago, New York, Detroit and State symphony orchestras and before the Evanston, Ann Arbor, Cornell and Newark musical festivals. During the early part of September she gave an extremely difficult performance with the Philadelphia symphony at the Sesqui-centennial, with Frederick Stock, of the Chicago symphony, conducting.

Philadelphia musical critics said that her rendition of the Brahms D minor concerto with this orchestra drew more applause than any single artist has received during the Sesqui-centennial.

In her Atlanta program Miss Lent has included numbers which would test the musicianship of the most mature player, as well as lighter descriptive songs, which she is said to present in "artistic musical cameos."

Her program includes:

In the first group: Concerto in G minor, by Max Bruch; Prelude Adagio, by Gounod; introduction and Rondo Capriccioso, by Saint-Saens.

In the second group: Nocturne, by Lull Boulanger; three songs by Cecil Burleigh—Moto Perpetuo, Hills and Fairy Sailing; Prelude and Allegro, by Pugnani-Kreisler.

In the third group: Vocalise, by Rachmaninoff; Polonaise in A, by Wieniawski.

Mrs. Ernest Lent will be at the piano.

New Orleans Cotton Mart Experiences Active Week

New Orleans, October 3.—(AP)—As far as trading is concerned the past week has been the most active of the season, but the activity has been at the expense of prices as the week's close showed a net loss on the December option of 156 points and the lowest point touched by that month Saturday showed a loss from the highest of Monday of 183 points.

As a result of the week's decline the price of December contracts is now 506 points below the high point of September 8, the price reached just before the publication of the government's crop forecast for that date. The causes assigned for the rapid decline in cotton prices during the week include the more favorable weather that has recently prevailed all over the belt, permitting the plants to mature much more fruit than was deemed possible a few weeks ago, and the almost panicky eagerness with which producers have been marketing their cotton without regard to price and the heavy hedge selling that has resulted from the very liberal purchases of spots in interior markets.

Added to these causes there was also the liquidation of the holdover long interest and the selling by buyers who purchased early in the week under the belief that the unseasonably cold weather in the northwestern part of the belt would damage the crop in that section.

Last week's movement of the crop interest has been the heaviest on record, reaching 787,000 bales. Such an immense movement made it plain that farmers were marketing their cotton as rapidly as it could be picked and handled by the market.

As a result of the big slump in prices to levels far below the cost of production a number of movements have been set on foot to help the farmers to hold back their crops until the cotton can be absorbed without glutting the market as has been the case of late. There is no doubt that spinners, particularly those abroad, are taking advantage of the low prices to lay in large supplies of raw material.

The following shows the high, low and closing sales of futures in the New Orleans market during the past week, compared with a year ago:

Memorial Held For Moore Haven Storm Victims

Sebring, Fla., October 3.—(AP)—Glades county survivors of the devastating West Indian hurricane that struck here September 19, paused in their labors of rehabilitating the damaged sections and searching for un-recovered bodies today to hold a memorial service for the victims whose number has not yet been officially determined. Several hundred persons attended the service.

Assembling on the municipal pier, the survivors of what has been declared the worst catastrophe to hit America since the San Francisco earthquake were spurred on in their efforts by ministers, city and county officials and Red Cross representatives here directing relief operations.

In opening the service Rev. J. C. Jones, pastor of the Moore Haven Methodist church, which was situated in the city hardest hit by the hurricane as a result of the Lake Okechobee dike breaking, offered a prayer of thankfulness that they had survived which he followed with an appeal to his audience that they enter upon the work of rebuilding the community.

Mayor Parrish, of Sebring, after expressing his sympathy and the sympathies of the people he officially represented, declared Sebring was not through with its relief mission and placed the resources of the city at the disposal of the refugees.

Mayor Parrish was followed on the

According to hospital officials Wilson brought his wife to the hospital a week ago Sunday night. After arranging for her entrance, he was asked to wait for several hours until his baby was born.
